REVEAL NEW FACTS ON FLOOD PLAN

FAIR Enough

Was He In Solitary
Confinement?

NEW YORK.—L. F. Chapman, superintendent of the Florida state prison at Raiford, asks for an opportunity to deny that Harry Sidmore, a New York thief, has been held in solitary confinement for five years, as reported in these dispatches. The same mail brings from a friend of Sidmore on the outside a reiteration of the claim and the further charge that he has been subjected to physical and mental torture.

On the physical side it is alleged that he was squirted with a high-pressure hose which left him bleeding. On the mental side it is claimed that as punishment for an escape, Sidmore was confined 152 days in the death cage, and 14 months in death cells in the company of men condemned to the chair.

The difference between the cage and the cells is not explained, but I imagine the cage is either the execution room or the pre-execution cell and the other place is the general quarters of the condemned.

It can be admitted that Sidmore is a thief by trade and that the jewel robbery in Miami for which he received a sentence of 40 years was merely a routine job in the career of a busy man. Nevertheless, a sentence of 40 years on a charge of breaking and entering in Miami naturally arouses suspicion.

SOVIET FLIER UNREPORTED

MOSCOW (AP)—Concern for the safety of I. P. Mazurik, pilot of one of three transport planes flying food and equipment to the Soviet polar air base, was evident in Moscow today when no report was received from him 15 hours after the takeoff.

Two of the planes reported they had landed near the pole, one finding the tiny outpost on an ice floe and the other sitting down about 13 miles beyond the earth's northern axis and an unannounced distance from the base camp.

Authorities said they felt the lack of a report from Mazurik might be unnecessary alarming. It was pointed out that he may have landed near the camp where four of the Soviet's air trail pioneers are to live for a year, but failed to report because of a damaged radio.

I thought I was doing a great deed not long ago when I sent my Aunt Ditty a bottle of this Hollywood perfume. I thought I was doing something sweet and thoughtful and would bring happiness into her life, but it turned out I made two people unhappy.

The other day I got a letter from my uncle and he said "I appreciate your thoughtfulness but I wish you hadn't done it." He said "Ditty has always been a dutiful wife and a hard working woman, but since you sent that perfume all she does now is look at herself in the duck pond and sigh!"

C. I. O. Strike Closes Richmond, Calif., Ford Plant

PICKET LINE KEEPS OUT OFFICIALS

Union Chief Says It's
'First Gun in War'
Against Company

RICHMOND, (AP)—Union workers at the Ford assembly plant went on a strike here today and an official of the United Automobile Workers of America declared it was "the first gun in the war against Henry Ford."

Production ceased immediately and a mass picket line around the plant stopped admission of company officials and non-union workers.

"This is the first gun in the war against Henry Ford," declared Frank Slaby, president of the local unit of the Automobile Workers Union, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Predicts Spread

Slaby declared the strike would spread to other Ford units, while at Detroit the automobile workers union prepared to distribute its "Unionism, not Fordism" leaflets at the plant gate.

Ford recently advised his thousands of workers not to join unions.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, replied that Ford "would be invited to join the fold" as had other leading automobile manufacturers. Martin visited here recently and authorized the strike vote among the 1500 workers in the assembly plant.

Only Two Opposed

Slaby declared only two votes were cast against the strike proposal after all-night balloting. The day crew voted 628 in favor of the strike, and the night shift 268. Many workers did not ballot, he explained, because they lived some distance from the plant.

One hundred and fifty pickets went on duty at 4 a. m., and two hours later a mass line of hundreds of men was around the plant.

About 150 non-union workers reported for duty and were met at the gate by picket lines.

Charge Discrimination

The two groups glared at each other for about an hour, and then the non-union workers left. The plant's office force of about 200 persons did not enter.

"The Ford company discriminated against our members for union activity," and attempted to form a company union," Slaby said.

The union official stated efforts to settle the dispute with R. C. Harrison, superintendent of the plant, had failed. The dispute arose, he said, after a recent sit-down strike was ended by a verbal agreement. He claimed the company also had failed to observe seniority rights.

FORD PERSONNEL CHIEF
EXPLAINS CLOSING

DETROIT (AP)—Harry Bennett, personnel director of the Ford Motor Co., said today that the Richmond, Calif., assembly plant had been closed in advance of a vote among the employees on a strike.

He said the plant "would be closed permanently if I had my way about it."

Bennett blamed the dispute on actions of two men he said objected to jobs to which they had been transferred at their own request.

BUYING FIGHT SETTLED

Only 16 Accept Bid
To Duke Wedding

MONTS, France. (AP)—Sixteen wedding guests, several of them holding British official positions, were announced today for the June 3 marriage of the Duke of Windsor and Wallis Warfield by Herman L. Rogers, their American spokesman. The guests include Hugh Lloyd Thomas, first secretary of the British embassy in Paris; Sir Walter T. Macken, attorney general of the Duchy of Cornwall; and Lady Walford Selby, wife of the British Minister at Vienna.

Metcalfe Best Man

Major E. B. Metcalfe, who will attend with Lady Alexandra Metcalfe, will be the Duke of Windsor's best man. The major is the Duke's equerry.

Rogers would not comment on the fact that of 30 invitations sent out, only 16 acceptances were received.

Some persons close to the Chateau de Candé attached significance to the fact that Lady Selby will attend without her husband, the minister to Austria. However, others pointed to the acceptance of Thomas, another British diplomat.

There have been reports the British government held out to the last against the attendance of Sir Walford Selby, despite the Duke or Windsor's pleadings. Sir Walford was one of Edward's confidants during his self-exile last winter in Austria.

Other Guests

Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild, owners of the Enzenfeld castle where Windsor stayed during the first part of his Austrian wait.

Mrs. G. Buchanan Merryman, from Washington.

Charles E. Bedaux and Mrs. Bedaux, of New York, owners of the Chateau de Candé.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graham. He is British consul at Nantes.

Mr. G. Allen, of London, the duke's attorney.

Dudley Forwood, an equerry of the duke.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers of New York.

Brownlow Regrets

It has been emphasized that the British guests who have any official connection with the government will be at the wedding in a strictly unofficial capacity. No member of the royal family will attend.

(Among those who presumably sent regrets was Baron Brownlow, who served the former King Edward VIII as lord-in-waiting and who was a part-time companion in his self-exile.)

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to the senate today approval of a pact pledging 21 American republics to work together to maintain peace in the western hemisphere.

The pact and seven other inter-American agreements which the chief executive sent to the senate for ratification grew out of the Buenos Aires conference held late last year. This country initiated the conference and the President himself attended.

Citing the initiative exercised by the United States in the meeting, the President said that "it would, therefore, seem to me particularly fitting that the United States government be among the first American governments to ratify the pact."

Nazi Flag Ripped Down;
Bridge Fete Boycott
Is Threatened

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge fiesta, already harassed by a major hotel strike, was threatened with a maritime labor boycott today in protest over use in decorations of Nazi German flags, one of which was ripped down by unidentified men.

Whether the flag incident, occurring on a downtown corner, would lead to a diplomatic protest could not immediately be determined. German government representatives here and in Washington were not available for comment.

Cut Flag Down

A group of men bearing a long pole fitted with a cutting device tore the flag from its overhead wire, leaving only a tattered shred fluttering over the street. They were gone when police arrived.

The bay district council of the powerful Maritime Federation of the Pacific, shipping union group, through its district secretary, said a vote would be called on whether the organization would withdraw from celebrations dedicating the $35,000,000 bridge.

Subsequently, a spokesman for the International Longshoremen's association, federation unit, said no stevedores would march in a fiesta parade Thursday along streets decorated with Nazi flags, which the committee asserted did not represent the German nation.

Soviet Flags Absent

"The Hitler regime and symbol are repugnant to organized labor and the liberal loving people of San Francisco," said a formal statement presented to Mayor Rossi by the committee, which represented itself as "Organized Labor Groups Against Nazism."

Some members of the committee, contending the Soviet Russian emblem was not displayed, declared it either should be included or the Nazi swastika flags removed.

HOG FARMERS MEET DELAY

Board Defers Action
On Eight Requests
For Permits

A parade of 4729 hogs passed before the eyes of members of the board of supervisors yesterday.

But the swine were only figures, and appeared in lists submitted by eight operators of commercial hog ranches who sought applications from the supervisors under the new ordinance adopted by the board to control hog farms.

However, the board was not ready to grant any permits to operate hog ranches yesterday, and deferred action for a week on the applications.

The reason given for the delay was that the applications did not specify that the ranches had been in operation for a year, as is necessary under the ordinance.

To Be Investigated

Addition of figures in the eight applications showed that there is a total of 254 acres of land devoted to hog raising on a commercial scale, and that there are 4729 hogs on the acreage. The figures were listed as approximate maximums.

Applications which came in yesterday were from C. E. Price, 15 acres and 1500 hogs; E. V. S. Pomeroy, 88 acres, 1020 hogs; H. W. Hudson, one acre, 150 hogs; I. Wada, 30 acres, 47 hogs; Bert F. Snyder, five acres, 149 hogs; Ed Phillips, 20 acres, 150 hogs; H. D. Anderson and N. B. Anderson, 55 acres, 213 hogs; and T. D. Bird, 40 acres, 1500 hogs.

Test Due June 8

The county's new ordinance to control hog farms and importation of garbage into the county will be tested in the fourth district appeal court at San Diego June 8. The case arose out of the arrest of the keeper of the hogs at the Land N' Feeding corporation ranch southwest of Santa Ana in the Talbert district, who was charged with violating provisions of the new emergency law.

R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the farm bureau, delivered a letter to the supervisors yesterday, expressing appreciation to the board of supervisors for its efforts to control the importation of garbage into the county.

Corn Skyrockets

REPORT GIVES ESTIMATES OF COST

First Official Totals
Filed With Board By Engineer Here

By KENNETH ADAMS

Final preliminary steps toward calling a $2,500,000 water bond election were being taken today.

An official report from Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson was in the hands of members of the board of supervisors. The only step now remaining before the election is called is legal approval of the report as submitted.

The Journal learned today that the total estimated cost of the flood control project as set up in the report is $15,248,000. Of this amount the U. S. army engineers will pay $12,748,000 and Orange county $2,500,000.

Costs Itemized

A complete breakdown of the costs of the eight projects in the county-wide flood control program was revealed to the public for the first time today by The Journal. These costs, as set up in the official report, are as follows:

Project No. 1, Santa Ana river: Federal government cost $4,900,000, county flood control district cost $1,753,500.

Project No. 2, Brea creek: Federal government $701,000, flood control district $90,110.

Project No. 3, Carbon canyon: Federal government $1,398,000, flood control district $151,710.

Project No. 4, San Juan creek: Federal government $2,171,000, flood control district $61,000.

Project No. 5, Arroyo Trabuco: Federal government $1,379,000, flood control district $8045.

Project No. 6, Santiago creek: Federal government $1,527,000, flood control district $68,865.

Incidental Costs

Project No. 7, Fullerton creek: Loftus diversion: Federal government $310,000, flood control district $293,280.

Project No. 8, Aliso creek: Federal government $362,000, flood control district $17,200.

For incidental expenses the sum of $56,250 is set up from the county's share of the cost.

The report now is in the hands of a board of supervisors, as they have checked the report from a legal angle, the board of supervisors is expected to call the $2,500,000 bond election. It is anticipated that everything will be ready to call the election by next Tuesday.

Figures contained in the report are subject to revision by the board of supervisors, but was not believed likely that any material changes would be made.

REMOVE TWIN FROM INFANT

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Doctors attending a 13-month-old girl held high hopes for her recovery today after they removed her "twin" from her abdomen.

The fetus, about five inches long, contained a partially formed skull, spine and embryonic leg bones.

It was contained in a small sac, as in a fetus of normal birth, but was not living in the sense that embryos live, existing as a parasitic growth.

Twenty-five physicians, surgeons and medical students watched the delicate operation, which doctors said was one of the rarest in medical annals.

A. F. L. AND C. I. O. START RACE TO ORGANIZE TRUCK DRIVERS

WILL INCLUDE WAREHOUSE WORKERS

Federation Agent to Hold Meeting Here On Union Plan

A race for organization of Orange county workers, between the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. caught up with truck drivers and warehouse men here today.

The fact that the battle for supremacy in the labor field between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. has struck Orange county was shown in this latest activity of union organizers.

Working Fast
The Journal learned today that H. L. Woxberg, organizer of the A. F. of L., contacted officials of the Smart and Final company in an attempt to get organization of truck drivers, helpers and warehouse men under way at once.

Woxberg represents the Chauffeurs, Helpers and Truck Drivers union. He told the wholesale grocery officials his union is working fast in an effort to organize the workers here before the C. I. O. gets to them. He said there are C. I. O. men here working toward the same end. Woxberg is seeking to arrange a meeting of the truck drivers and warehouse men to discuss unionization.

Already Organized
Drivers and warehouse men of the Smart and Final company in San Bernardino already are organized in a union. The driving division of the company is partially organized. There are 24 drivers and warehouse men employed by the big concern in this city.

It was emphasized that there is no trouble between the local firm and the union organizers.

MORE ABOUT TYPEWRITER

The agent of the board of supervisors, but the agent of the county for making purchases. Fenelon's refusal to purchase the specified make of typewriter was not an exercise of reasonable discretion, the judge declared.

Observers concluded that if Fenelon had advanced some other reason than the board's buying policy, for his refusal to buy the Smith typewriter, he would have been sustained. His mistake, it appeared, was in relying on the policy established by the board.

Overrules Denial
The judge overruled a demurrer to the writ filed by Fenelon, represented by Attorney B. Z. McKinney, who was employed by the board of supervisors. The judge also overruled a contention by McKinney that a proper requisition would have to come from the board of supervisors.

When, late in the afternoon, the judge delivered his opinion, McKinney asked if his ruling meant that the board of supervisors would have to destroy the purchasing agent to get control of county purchases. The judge said that that was the case, and that the supervisors could go back to the old system without a county purchasing agent.

Fuel Case Unsettled
Although the ruling favored Lambert in the typewriter tiff, the feeling among court observers was that the case was not settled by the ruling. For instance, if Fenelon for the L. C. Smith typewriter to the county auditor, the board of supervisors can refuse to pay for it. That would mean another lawsuit. And the feeling is that the board will prefer to appeal the case to the higher court.

McKinney said he would ask the board if that is its desire. McKinney had argued his case in the morning session of the trial. He had contended the law gives the board of supervisors and their purchasing agent sole and exclusive power to purchase and maintain all county property and equipment, and completely establishes their discretion in exercising those powers.

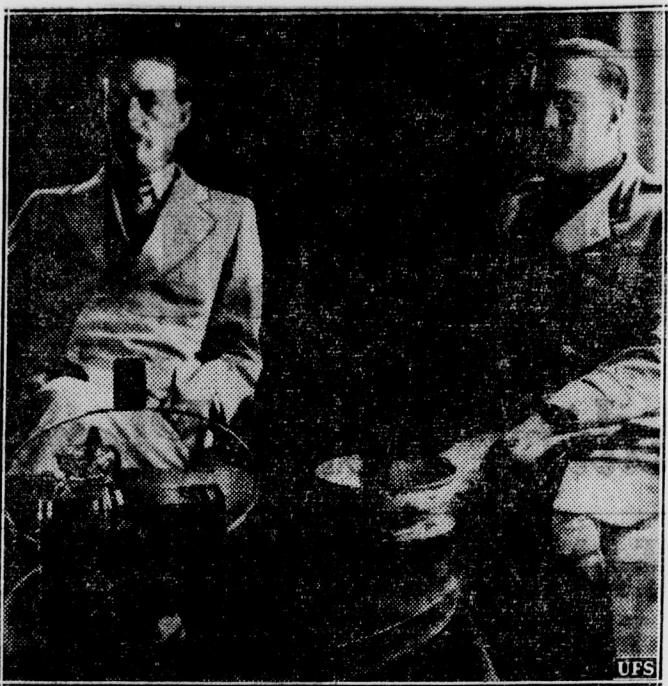

Blodgett's Contentions
Blodgett argued his case in the afternoon. He contended the purchasing agent has power in excess of that vested in the supervisors. He cited sections of the political code to show that officials of a county do have the right to direct expenditures. He said one couldn't reconcile those statutes with the claim that the supervisors exercise complete authority in purchasing. Blodgett held that the supervisors could not add to nor detract from the duties of the purchasing agent. As to the resolution adopted by the supervisors directing Fenelon to rotate purchases, Blodgett argued that the board could not extend statutory limits of the purchasing agent's authority, and that in this case there was no question of efficiency or economy raised.

McKinney's Argument
McKinney held that the statute creating the office of purchasing agent did not disturb the rights or powers of the supervisors, but rather increased them. He pointed out that the supervisors could even do away with the purchasing department if they wanted to.

Lambert was put on the witness stand in the afternoon session. Questioned by McKinney, he said he felt his department was more efficient when standardized with Smith typewriters. He said it might take a girl a long time to get used to another brand of typewriters.

The question as to whether

A poorly organized revolt against King Zog of Albania was quickly crushed in the Argyrokastron section. The revolt presumably had its origin in a personal feud between the King and Ethem Tofo, former Interior Minister. PLEA MADE FOR 'RADIO ALIBI' SMALL FARMER BACKFIRES

With owners of small farms in Southern California unable to produce profitably, large employers both in the farming district and the cities should attempt to fill their needs for extra workers from this group, thus helping to solve the labor problem.

This suggestion was advanced by J. W. Crill, of Garden Grove, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, banker and citrus grower, at Tuesday's luncheon of the Santa Ana Rotary club at the Masonic temple.

Crill's talk was based on the findings of the agricultural conference here last February, which indicated that it was impossible to make a reasonable living from 10 acres or less of citrus.

A limit should be placed by the state on small farming subdivisions, Crill added, in order to keep the marginal producers out of the picture and hold down surpluses. The speaker, who was introduced by Farm Advisor Harold C. Wahlberg and Program Chairman Brad Hells, reviewed the outlook for orchard and field crops in the county, saying that beans and sugar beets seemed to hold promise for development.

Goes to Jail for Electric Theft
August Norman, 48-year-old Olive miner, was beginning a 30-day county jail term today for stealing electricity from the Edison company.

Norman was arrested late yesterday by D. B. Dunbar, special Edison officer, and booked at the county jail. He pleaded guilty today before Justice Charles Kuehl in Anaheim.

DAUGHTER ARRIVES
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harless, 714 Oak street, have as their guest a little daughter, who arrived yesterday. The parents hope she will make her home with them for many years. She is a teller at the First National bank.

Lambert employs girls who can operate any type of typewriter went unanswered; as did a question as to whether Lambert is associated with a firm handling Smith typewriters. Objection to this query was sustained. Fenelon testified he had offered to deliver any standard brand of typewriter, including the Smith, to Lambert if he would merely ask for a standard brand of typewriter and not specifically for a Smith. He said the Smith typewriters have predominated very much over other brands in purchases by the county.

McKinney asked Fenelon if he could go out on the open market to purchase makes specified. Judge Scovel said that point not at issue and the question went unanswered.

McKinney put Mrs. Edith Johnson, typewriting instructor in a business school, on the stand. She testified that it should take but a short time for a typewriter operator to change from one brand of machine to another without loss of efficiency. Blodgett objected to the testimony, saying that might be the case with a student, but with a typewriter operator used to one machine, operation of a particular brand becomes a habit.

Ruling Explained
George B. Holmes, junior college commercial department head, was put on the stand but was ruled unqualified as a witness. Judge Scovel said Fenelon now must order the L. C. Smith typewriter demanded by Lambert or appeal the case, because he had not exercised reasonable discretion in the matter. He also indicated that by employing a purchasing agent, the supervisors had divested themselves of control of purchasing such items as typewriters.

The only thing that seemed to have been settled by the case was that Fenelon should exercise discretion in making purchases.

What the supervisors want to do is distribute business as evenly as possible among all business firms of the county. This was the object in adopting the resolution setting up a purchasing policy.

URGES STIFF FINES FOR SPEEDERS

"Another Judge Cox could do more for humanity than any other agency in California," Judge Cox years ago gained fame in Santa Ana for stiff sentences and fines he gave traffic offenders.

Thus Ralph Dorsey, Los Angeles safety engineer, viewed campaigns for safety on highways of the state, when he addressed members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Costa Mesa last night.

Orange county should be congratulated for having such a low accident rate, he said, pointing to much greater death averages in other places. He lauded members of the state highway patrol and society enforcement agencies and pointed to need for unity of thought for a state-wide program to cut down accidents and deaths.

Need for Judges
"Deaths can be decreased only to a certain extent. After that, the number of accidents is only a fair rate of interest for progress," he said.

Need for more judges who would abide by commonsense rules and with fortitude enough to face the public with their decisions was stressed by the speaker, who said that better control over traffic situations could be offered by judges who were not forced to rely upon votes to hold their positions.

Divisions of highways into separate two-lane roadways with dividing islands in the center and proper illumination will eliminate 75 per cent of the state's traffic problems, Dorsey said. Difference between metropolitan and suburban traffic problems was explained by the speaker, who said that pedestrians figured in most deaths in the city, while car collisions took more suburban lives.

Experts Working
A fundamental program now is in hands of experts, he said, and a bill creating a state traffic safety council and highway authority was approved. "We have the will to correct this problem and are getting the needed unity and soon will be making progress," he said.

"If you are going to stop traffic deaths, you cannot compare them with business, which is what some are trying to do in Santa Ana," George Kellogg, highway committee member said. He explained that some residents claim Santa Ana's traffic safety drive is keeping business away, but argued that increased safety would benefit business by reducing accidents.

"Tragic Joke"
"It is a tragic joke, the way we have limited and controlled our officers," Kellogg added, in urging more support and freedom for law enforcement agencies.

Dorsey was introduced by A. L. Pryor, Los Angeles. Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa was in charge of the program. Morris Crawley, Costa Mesa chamber president, welcomed guests to the meeting and Mayor William Warner, Huntington Beach, responded. Dinner was served by members of the Woman's club.

DEADLOCKED ON LABOR BILL

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—A new attempt to break the deadlock on labor laws, together with proposed creation of a non-partisan legislature and an impending impasse on bills regulating the so-called "loan sharks," were the major issues confronting weary lawmakers here today.

Despite the rapid fire manner in which items of the calendar have been disposed of since Monday when the final week was begun, indications point to the usual eleventh hour bill jam and the traditional resort to a stopped clock to gain additional time in which to clear the congested files.

The McMurray-Williamson bill revising the state income tax law was sent to the governor today for signature following assembly concurrence in senate amendments yesterday.

The bill changes the residence provisions of the law, stipulating that persons residing in California for nine months instead of six in any calendar year shall be presumed to be residents and subject to the tax.

EL RODEO GROUP ENTRAINS

To represent Orange county in opening ceremonies for the San Francisco Golden Gate bridge, more than 40 riders and horses from this region left by train for the bay region yesterday.

The riders are members of El Rodeo Riding club, a local organization. The Orange county contingent is headed by George Boyd, in charge of arrangements for the trip. Boyd indicated that the local riders would be in competition with mounted groups from Pendleton, Oro, Reno, Nev., Wyoming, Kern county, Mexico City, and Canada's Northwest Mounted police.

El Rodeo riders will have new uniforms, including white shirts with an orange over the left breast, an orange neckerchief. A new banner will be carried, having orange letters on a white background.

Radio Scribe and Typewriter Are Freed from Jail

Cyril Armbrister and his trusty typewriter were back at work in their Hollywood office today. The 40-year-old radio producer was released from the county jail yesterday on completion of a five-day term for speeding. Arrested in Santa Ana canyon while allegedly traveling 67 miles an hour, Armbrister was sentenced by Justice Cal Lester of Orange, over the loud protests of a galaxy of Hollywood "big shots."

He brought his typewriter, and kept busy during the five days, thinking up things for his radio characters to say.

F.D.R. STILL FIGHTS FOR COURT PLAN

V. ASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt is insisting on his judiciary reorganization bill, it was disclosed today, because labor, power and other key administration policies still face court tests.

For that reason, he indicated at a press conference, he does not share the view of some supporters that recent supreme court decisions mean his battle has been won.

Rulings Yet to Come
Leading Democrats, declining to be quoted by name, nevertheless said there was talk of some senate friends of the court bill suggesting to the President one at a time that he withdraw it as no longer necessary. That suggestion grew in part out of the court's validation of the social security program.

Some of the fundamental questions still to be decided are involved in the new wage and hour bill. Others may arise from legislation to be recommended in the President's message on national planning, expected to reach congress this week.

The ban on child labor proposed in the labor standards measure, he said, will involve reversal of a 1918 decision that such legislation violates federal interstate commerce powers.

Seven Agencies Planned
Wage and hour provisions themselves and further strengthening of collective bargaining rights, he added, also will raise vital legal issues.

Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) will propose establishment of seven regional planning agencies like the Tennessee Valley authority to carry out the President's planning recommendations. Flood control, navigation improvement, irrigation soil erosion control and power development will be embraced.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that the government was not finally sure of the TVA's status. The supreme court upheld construction of a dam but did not pass on parts of the TVA act.

ORATORIO TO BE GIVEN HERE

Appearing at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday at 5:30 p. m., the Whittier college A cappella choir will present a program of sacred music, including a dramatic oratorio, by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Frank Pursell will be the conductor and Herbert Nanney will accompany at the organ. Soloists will be Russ Shakkarian, soprano; Paul Osteras, tenor; Frank Pursell, bass; and Ardith Lowe, contralto. Miss Lowe is the daughter of Rev. W. I. Lowe, pastor of the Community church in Costa Mesa, and a junior at Whittier college.

Although popularly known only for his compositions in the field of light opera, Sir Arthur Sullivan of Gilbert and Sullivan fame, was first famed for his own compositions, among which was the oratorio which will be presented the evening of Memorial day.

"The Frodoval Song" is a dramatic oratorio by Sir Arthur Sullivan's earlier work, and has been very popular for more than a half century.

COUNTY JOB QUIZ GETS RESULTS

County employees forgot their grumbles today and sent a flood of answers to the board of supervisors on the questionnaire submitted to them by the county board.

Supervisor John Mitchell, who with Supervisor N. E. West is directing the questionnaire program, said today that about 75 per cent of the questionnaires put out by the board have been returned.

Included in the huge stack of answers to the supervisors' questions was one filled out by Earl R. Abbey, coroner and public administrator. The one from Sheriff Logan Jackson was not among the group turned in so far, it was reported.

Supervisor Mitchell emphasized today that the contents of the questionnaires would be held confidential by the supervisors. The board wants the questionnaires, he said, to make a revision of salaries. The object, he said, is to see how much each position should be paid, and not how much any individual employee of the county is worth or is paid.

One of the objects of the questionnaire survey, it was said, was to place Coroner Abbey and Sheriff Jackson on straight salaries rather than have them paid on a fee basis. How this will work out is yet to be determined.

Included in the mass of questionnaires were some from department heads, Mitchell said.

It had been reported that department heads were discussing calling a meeting to decide what to do about the questionnaires, but this meeting has not developed.

BOOSTERS TO BACK WATER PROGRAM

Members of the water committee of the associated chambers of commerce of Orange county believe the board of supervisors will act for the best interests of the county in setting an amount for the proposed flood control bond election.

This was pointed out at a meeting in Costa Mesa last night, when LeRoy Lyon, chairman, presented a resolution which unqualifiedly supports any program the board may see fit to present.

No action was taken on the resolution because of the 28-day clause in the organization's by-laws which will hold up a vote until next month.

"We, the water committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, recommend in connection with the proposition of a flood control bond election, that the Associated Chambers of Commerce go on record as being willing to support the board of supervisors in such program as that board shall, in its best judgment, deem necessary to accomplish the purpose," said the resolution.

Lyon said opinion in the committee was unanimous that something must be done concerning flood control and that members agreed upon the resolution without mentioning amount of the proposed bond issue.

Members of the water committee, in addition to Lyon, are Willis Warner, S. W. Stanley, H. Clay Kellogg, Leslie F. Kimmell, H. H. Hale, J. E. Lewis, Dian Gardner, Mrs. Louis F. Moulton and M. N. Thompson.

WAR HEROES TO RECEIVE TRIBUTES

Santa Ana prepared today to honor its heroes who have died in wars of the United States.

The most colorful of all observances of Memorial day Monday will be held at the monument in the old cemetery at 10:30 a. m. This year Sedgwick post, Grand Army of the Republic, has charge of the program. The main address will be given by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

On Sunday, May 30, members of the Santa Ana G. A. R. post and allied orders will worship with members of the First Baptist church at Memorial Sunday services. Members of the Grand Army and allied organizations will meet at the M. W. A. hall at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, and will march in a body to the church.

Flowers Needed

Plans were being made today to decorate graves of the soldier dead in Fairhaven and the old cemetery adjoining. Residents of the city, and school children will be asked to help furnish flowers for this work. Persons wishing to donate flowers can leave them at Birch park or at 510 West Santa Clara avenue, Friday morning.

There are but six members of the local Grand Army post left out of an original membership of more than 600. Commander George D. Campbell today appealed to Santa Anans to help supply the large quantity of flowers which will be needed to decorate graves.

The importance of Memorial day was emphasized today in a statement by C. F. Millen, of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war. "In May," he said, "the day of days on our calendar occurs. It is the day we pay tribute to our nation's defenders. For 69 years the Grand Army of the Republic has paid loving tribute to those who served our country in its army and navy."

Patriotic Note

"Let the flag under which they so bravely fought fly over each grave. Place flowers on each mound and straw blossoms on the water in memory of our sailor dead. The proper observance of this day is most important in its influence upon the younger generation. It brings to mind the purpose of the day and our part in it. "It recalls to all the meaning of patriotism, and reminds every one of us who enjoy citizenship of the republic of the privilege given us, as well as the obligation that citizenship entails. It forces upon the minds of non-citizens that we esteem that citizenship as valuable and as a thing not to be held lightly. It is a beautiful duty of remembrance to those who gave their lives that this nation might be preserved, and show to the world that we are grateful."

Youth to Appear In Damage Action

Robert Clark, 19-year-old Santa Ana youth, had a new guardian ad litem today, appointed by the court so that he could be brought into a damage action filed by F. L. Sherman against him and the Excelsior Creamery.

The guardian is Barbara Ann Clark, the youth's sister-in-law. Clark had defaulted in the action, but because he is a minor the court would not permit the default and named the guardian. As trial of the damage case was resumed in Superior Judge James L. Allen's department today, Clark was put on the stand to tell his version of the accident which resulted in the lawsuit.

Sherman is suing Clark and the creamery company for a total of $37,000 for damages he suffered in an accident Sept. 9, 1936, near First street and Harbor boulevard. Young Clark is not an employee of the creamery, but was driving a creamery truck which collided with a car driven by Sherman.

By
WALTER R. ROBB

Mrs. Lilly Mason, 525 South Broadway, and Mrs. Della Hendershot, 711 West Tenth street, were guests of honor at a meeting of the Ladies' Townsend afternoon club No. 3 held at the Mrs. Ella Stowe home, 625 1/2 North Broadway, all day, May 19. The ladies spent the day making comforters and other articles to be offered for sale in the big Orange county bazaar which begins tomorrow morning in Santa Ana Townsend hall on West Fourth street. The days was in celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Hendershot. A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed, and was made complete by a large birthday cake cut in honor of the two ladies.

A group numbering between 50 and 60 Costa Mesa Townsend club members were guests at the Westminster Memorial park last Sunday afternoon. The management conducted the party through the grounds and pointed out methods in use and improvements which have been made in beautification of the park.

Things are humming around the West Fourth street Townsend hall these days. And more than that, things are getting all dolled up. The booths have been made and the men have done a good job of it, too. Gay colors bedecked the place, with much more being done today by the ladies as they make final preparations for the opening day tomorrow. There will be a lot of good articles on sale at right prices during Thursday, Friday and Saturday. In addition there will be something doing each day and night, so get your sunbonnet ready and be prepared to meander down that way, all you women. And where the women go the men are sure to be, and that will mean crowds, and crowds add to the interest of such an occasion. So do your part, each of you.

O. S. Haynes, president of Costa Mesa club No. 1 and Newport Beach night patrol officer, was in the thick of the effort being made last Friday in the hall to get the bazaar booth made which will be headquarters for Townsend clubs 1 and 3 of that city. In the group present from the Costa Mesa club were Mrs. Lena Burdick, Mrs. H. S. Drake, Karl C. Burdick, Harry Griffith, Alfred Wise and Charley Davis. The sawdust and shavings were flying and the thud of hammers made a din which harmonized with the driving force with which the Costa Mesa Townsendites constantly labor for the Townsend cause. Perhaps that accounts for the fact that in the neighborhood of 1,600 folks from the Costa Mesa territory have had their names on the membership rolls of the three Townsend clubs there.

Townsend hall administration board take notice, that tonight at 7:30 in Santa Ana Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, a special meeting will be held. Every member is asked to be present. There will be no cards sent to you, so please be sure and tell other members of the board who reside near you. Be prompt, let us start on time, and get through early.

Costa Mesa club No. 3 met last night in a business session in the music room of the elementary school on Newport avenue. Final preparations were made for the Orange county bazaar. Mrs. Lena Burdick, president, presided. Miss Ida Gage is publicity chairman of this club. Mrs. Alice Mullen and Miss Gage are both active members. Mrs. Mullen and Miss Gage were active in Townsend work in Massachusetts before coming to the West Coast.

This paragraph is devoted to thanking Alva Cruzen, 236 South Prospect, Tustin, for the fine letter he sent the writer and The Journal and which was printed in part in The Journal's Mailbag last Saturday. Cruzen agreed with the writer in his views concerning big pensions to supreme court justices and small ones to the common folk. If you folk didn't read his letter, then go hunt up Saturday's Journal and read it, for Cruzen advanced some mighty good thoughts. Thank you, Mr. Cruzen; come again.

Received your card of announcement, Mrs. Arlington Lewis of Oceanview, but too late to get it in Monday's column. Glad you wrote, however, and hope you will do it again. Here's gambling that you Oceanview Townsendites had a great time over at Seal Beach last night. Why not write me all about it? Tell me the names of those attending, how they went, and what was done at the meeting.

Santa Ana Townsend club No. 2 met Monday evening in business session with P. R. Long in the chair. The chief order of business was the election of a delegate and alternate to the Townsend national convention to be held in Washington, D. C., July 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25. Long was elected as the delegate, and Fred Nelson as alternate. A grab-bag was held after the business session had been conducted.

ITALY OPENS CAMPAIGN ON JEWS

Duce's Paper Demands They Renounce 'Isms' Or Citizenship

MILAN, Italy. (AP) — Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper has demanded that Italian Jews publicly declare themselves enemies of "International Hebrewism" or renounce their Italian citizenship and residence.

"We do not admit that our Hebrews can have the mentality of their co-religionists who were and are the inspiration of the Spanish horrors, of the French disorientation, of the Soviet inferno," Oreste Gregorio wrote in the newspaper, the Milan Popola D'Italia.

"The Hebrews of Italy face a dilemma which up to now they have ignored—perhaps transported by a religious impulse or by a vision which did not cling to reality—a precise and inevitable dilemma," Gregorio wrote.

"Either they must publicly declare themselves enemies—we mean enemies—of international, Masonic, subversive and, above all, anti-Fascist Hebrewism, and give to their manifestations a character simply and sincerely religious or renounce their Italian citizenship and residence.

"It is inconceivable that in synagogues and communities, meetings begin with expressions of fidelity to Italy, the king and Il Duce and, at the same time, demonstrate sympathies, even though theoretical, with problems and actions hostile to Italy, to the king and to Il Duce."

POULTRY COST STUDY MADE

The tenth annual poultry cost study has just been completed by the agricultural extension service in cooperation with interested poultrymen of Orange county.

Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor, said today.

This study, which shows all costs involved in keeping poultry and the income derived therefrom, is valuable in helping poultrymen to keep down their costs and to improve their management practices.

The 1936 record shows that the income per hen kept was the highest of any of the past 10 years. This is due to most of the co-operators in the study selling a considerable amount of live poultry as broilers or fryers. The record also shows that mortality continues to be the greatest single problem of the industry, although most flocks in the study showed an improvement or decrease in per cent of mortality from the 1935 figure.

No single effort will so help the poultryman in his management as a month to month knowledge of mortality and egg production, and a complete analysis of his annual record, such as that shown by the cost study.

Any poultryman who wishes a copy of this study can obtain a copy from the farm advisor's office, 211 court house annex, Santa Ana.

Mexicans Secure Legal Residence

Forty Mexican citizens who came into this country before 1921 have recently had their residence here legalized on payment of $10 fees at the office of Franklin Davis, U. S. immigration chief for Orange county.

Applications for registration resulted from the dropping of all aliens illegally in the United States from the WPA, Davis explained.

About 8000 citizens of the southern republic are in Orange county illegally at present and are subject to this registration, the immigration official declared.

Quezon Amused by McNutt's Toast Precedence Ruling

NEW YORK. (AP)—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine commonwealth, arrived from London highly amused at discussion of "High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt's notification to foreign consuls that the high commission expected precedence over island government officials when toasts are drunk at formal dinners.

The Philippine president, who would rank fourth in the matter of toasts should Commissioner McNutt's request be carried out, said humorously he did not think a diplomatic crisis would result.

"Seriously, I cannot make a comment until the matter comes to me officially," he added.

In Manila, Wayne McCoy, administrative assistant to the American high commissioner, confirmed reports that Commissioner McNutt's office had notified foreign consuls of its precedence ruling. It provided the first toast should be in honor of the head of the sovereign state for whom the function is held. The second should be to the President of the United States and, should it be desired to propose other toasts, the high commissioner should be third, and the President of the Philippine commonwealth fourth.

President Quezon said he had met Commissioner McNutt.

"We had cocktails together once in New York," he said.

"Who was toasted first?"

"Nobody," he replied. "We just had a drink together. I never refuse a drink."

'Plum' Given to Mitchell, As He Names Deputy Sheriff

Who gets this tasty little political plum?

"Me!" said one supervisor. "Me!" cried another supervisor. And "me," said still another supervisor.

But it went to Supervisor John Mitchell.

The "plum" was the opportunity to name a successor to Claude Potter, member of the farm theft detail of the sheriff's office, who

Supervisor Mitchell successfully moved that the job be given to Cliff King, of Huntington Beach, with the approval of Sheriff Logan Jackson.

The motion by Mitchell was seconded by Supervisor Steele Finley, who remarked: "And I get the next one." Referring to the next appointment to come before the board.

DOUGLAS FACES CLAIM DOCTOR LABOR CHARGE STOLE DRUGS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Douglas Aircraft company, largest builder of airplanes, must appear before a trial examiner of the National Labor Relations board June 7 to answer charges that it has engaged in unfair labor practices involving interstate commerce.

The Labor Relations board filed the charges yesterday and stated that the Douglas officials "dominate and interfere with" an employees' association, the Aircraft Workers' Union, Inc.

Officers of the Aircraft Workers' Union recently denied the organization is a company union and filed a challenge with the National Labor Relations board, asking that the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization unions join it in conducting an election to ascertain which union should be collective bargaining agent for the workers.

The board ignored the challenge. In filing the charges, the board did not mention the CIO, whose United Automobile Workers of Amer-

Cultist Loses In Debauchery Charge Appeal

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Counsel for John Wuest Hunt, disciple of Father Divine, negro religious cult leader, have lost in an attempt to have the federal court dismiss an indictment charging him with debauchery.

Hunt is accused of violating the Mann act in bringing 17-year-old Deight Jewett from her Denver, Colo., home to Beverly Hills, Calif.

"The indictment is not specific as to the type of debauchery charged," Attorney Hugh McBeth argued in Hunt's behalf. "The debauchery might be construed as alcoholic, spiritual or mental."

Judge Leon Yankovich overruled a demurrer and a motion to strike the indictment.

Buick Sedan Is Price Standout For 1937

Feature of the Buick line of cars for 1937 is this Series 40 Special five-passenger, four-door standing to W. R. Gordon, of the Reid Motor Co., at 221ing to W. R. Gordon, of the Reid Motor Co., at 221 E Fifth street. A new addition to the line, it is priced considerably lower than last year's corresponding model, yet it has a longer wheelbase and more power. Ample trunk space is built into the tapering tail, while the Fisher "Unisteel" bodies provide maximum comfort.

FLINT, Mich.—With a gain of 86 dealers during April, a record for any single month, the Buick division of General Motors Sales Corporation now has the largest dealer organization in its history, W. R. Gordon, local Buick dealer, stated today.

At the same time, Buick sales and service facilities have been extended into new territories and more complete and efficient coverage of established areas has been accomplished, Gordon said.

The Buick retail organization in the field now numbers 2756 dealers, the largest group ever to represent Buick. The previous high was in April, 1928.

"While the growth has been steady during the last three years," he said, "there were more franchises granted during April than in any other similar period in Buick's history. Moreover, it now appears likely that dealer coverage will be further expanded within the next six months until approximately 3000 dealers will be selling and servicing Buick cars in the United States."

"With this organization, Buick will be represented by authorized sales and service establishments in virtually every town and city of 5000 population or more."

The new high mark is the result of steady growth and not a dealership "campaign," he asserted.

Probe Shooting Of Banning Woman

At Indio, where the shooting occurred, Herbert Hughes, auto camp operator, said Mrs. Wagner told him she wounded herself, but did not consider her condition serious and would accompany West to Parker, Ariz.

MORE BY PEGLER

certain public authorities personally, on their promise that he would get no more than five years. The quality of statesmanship in Miami and vicinity has been very low ever since the first boom and if the charges and counter-charges heard in every local political campaign are one-tenth true, then the superintendent at Raiford should be ordered to dust out a few cells for distinguished guests.

My acquaintance with the Florida method of handling accused men happily is impersonal. I am still impressed by the turpentine camp atrocities exposed in the old New York World, and remember a little moonlight idyl in the old Miami jail yard which was reminiscent of the political butcheries in Central America. In that case a squealer tipped off a jailbreak and the gallant officers, instead of preventing the attempt, took positions unobserved and slaughtered the men as they ran through the trap.

A sweat-box was discovered in a prison road camp last year, after all such were supposed to have been abolished and just in large broad strokes, my picture of prison conditions in Florida and of Sidmore's plight in particular was bad.

DENIES BRUTALITY

Warden Chapman says of Sidmore, however, that "he has not been in solitary confinement for five years nor for any other appreciable time and has not been treated brutally or subjected to inhuman punishment." He has the same food as the 1700 others, has the run of a large yard every day and all day in the open air and a clean, well lighted cell at night.

As for physical comforts, he fares better than most others since he has no onerous duties and is not crowded into cell with several others.

"He is in the detention ward because he has made repeated attempts to escape and succeeded once by hiding under the hood of a truck. He has bribed a guard for the guard was put in jail, has attempted to arrange for bringing guns into prison and in many other ways has broken the rules. He seems to have no idea but escape and continue his life of crime which he carried on for 20 years, during which time he served in other prisons."

RIGHTS OF OTHERS

"He simply is not permitted to escape nor will he succeed. This makes him complain continually. When he shows that he can keep the few rules of the prison and has developed a respect for government, and a regard for the rights of others, he will be released from the detention ward and handled like the others."

Well, I don't believe any man could hide under the hood of a running truck motor, but otherwise the warden's story rings truer than Sidmore's and I am relieved to be told that the atrocity, if any, probably will terminate at Sidmore's own will. He did break jail once and has threatened to do so again, he is a criminal by trade and a liar by the clock, and his most serious legitimate complaint seems to be that certain public officials of the two Miamis are not in prison with him. That is deplorable, but the prison warden can't go out and get them.

Anyway, there are both sides of the story.

UNITES HELD FOR ROCKEFELLER

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — In the quiet peace of his Pocantico Hills estate, descendants and old family friends of John D. Rockefeller, sr., paid final tribute to the one-time world's richest man.

As simple funeral rites marked his passing, activities of the international "oil empire" he founded were suspended throughout the world for five minutes out of respect for his memory.

The services, as planned by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church in New York, consisted of prayer, scriptural reading and organ rendition of some of his favorite hymns. These included "Abide With Me," "Sun of My Soul," "Thou Savior Dear" and "Sunset and Evening Star."

At the same time, in New York City, the famous "Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Carillon," dedicated to Rockefeller's wife, played a special recital of hymns including with "Lead, Kindly Light."

John D. Rockefeller, jr., now head of the family, and his wife soon will move into the many-towered stone castle of his father.

HOLLYWOOD.—All my life I have wanted a home — my own. I suppose that is among the most human of all desires. For years I lived in apartments and rented houses. But now I am glad I waited. The anticipation and planning have been fun, and the realization has exceeded my fondest hopes.

Myrna Loy

I am afraid my home doesn't quite come up to what might be expected of a movie actress's home. It isn't palatial, far from it, but then I wanted a home and not a show-place.

From the moment I saw the property, several years ago, I knew that I must have it. The grounds, tucked away in the hills back of Hollywood, cover four-and-one-half acres of rolling wooded land, topped by the knoll on which the home has been built. The architecture is rambling early California farmhouse style, and the house looks as if it might have been there always, which is the effect I sought.

Keeps Natural Beauty

Originally, my small acreage was part of a Spanish land grant. I have endeavored not to spoil its natural beauty. There are a swimming pool and tennis courts, but they are hidden under the trees at the foot of the house. The pool follows the contours of the knoll. Two acres are planted in lime trees, always refreshingly green.

The furnishings and draperies I selected myself. I wanted a comfortable home, devoid of modernistic touches, and most of the furniture I picked up at farms on trips into the Southern California back country. I found amazing things—chairs and tables and desks that were brought to California by oxcart in the days of '49.

Petticoat Chair Covers

The majority needed repairing, but the wood has that satiny, aged appearance which only time can give. I am particularly proud of my dining room set. It looked like a wreck when I purchased it, having been stored in a barn for years. A little polish made it look like new. I like color and found a perfect covering for the chairs in the multi-colored petticoats worn by the women of Normandy. I brought back a dozen of them from my trip to Europe two years ago.

Everything in the home is like that, something I have wanted and worked for. It was completed a few weeks before I finished "Parnell" and now I am enjoying a long vacation and rest.

I had thought of taking a trip, but I cannot bring myself to go further away than the limits of the front porch. At this moment, I'll hazard the guess that the entire vacation will be spent at home.

There seems to be so much dusting to do!

UPPER RIVER FUND 'GRAB' IS DOOMED

Westover Sends Word $800,000 for Water Project to Lose

San Bernardino county's "grab" of an $800,000 appropriation for a flood control project to be paid for by state funds appeared to be doomed today.

Word was received yesterday afternoon by the board of supervisors from Senator Harry Westover of Orange county that A. B. 272, which provides for the appropriation and which passed the assembly, will die in committee in the senate.

Senator Westover told the supervisors he was sure the measure would never come out of committee.

Orange county officials, including the board of supervisors and directors of the Orange County Water District, had protested strongly against the state legislation. They learned that the money was to be spent for water spreading in the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river which would prevent Orange county from getting its fair share of runoff water from the river.

Showgirl Tells Of Assault By Booking Agent

NEW YORK (AP)—Miss Lois de Fee, 24, a statuesque showgirl, appeared in Magistrate Louis Brodsky's court yesterday with two badly discolored eyes and a broken nose and asked for a warrant for the arrest of Lou Brice, Broadway booking agent, on an assault charge.

The magistrate ordered the warrant prepared after Miss de Fee explained she was sitting in a night club "minding her own business" when Brice, a brother of Fanny Brice, comedy stage star, tried to engage her in conversation.

She slapped his face, she told the court, and he went away but later returned and gave her what she described as a "rabbit punch," a blow on the back of the neck. Miss de Fee said she resented this and one thing led to another until, she asserted, Brice became more aggressive and struck her in the face.

ROBERTA LOSES RETRIAL PLEA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Judge Clarence Kincaid yesterday refused to grant a new trial of Roberta Semple's charges of slander against Willedd Andrews, Angelus Temple attorney.

Judge Kincaid awarded Miss Semple $2000 at the conclusion of the case. She had asked for $150,000, charging Andrews injured her by issuing statements that her mother, Aimee Semple McPherson, had been "coerced, intimidated and blackmailed."

Miss Semple, asking for a new trial, expressed dissatisfaction with the amount of judgment. Andrews, also requesting a new trial, said he felt the evidence submitted was insufficient to justify the verdict.

Joseph Scott, attorney for Andrews, announced he would appeal the judgment.

The story of an American chorus girl who refuses to get excited when a former king shows a great interest in her is told in "The King and the Chorus Girl," which opens today at Walker's theater, heading a double program that also features "A Family Affair."

Fernand Gravet, French actor, makes his American film debut in this film, and the object of his affection is Joan Blondell. After much intrigue and exciting adventures, during which the chorus girl succeeds in keeping the king on the "water wagon" and produces a pseudo-fiance when the king becomes too serious in his attentions, the girl sails for home, only to have the king follow her and win her for his bride.

In the cast are Edward Everett Horton, Alan Mowbray, Jane Wyman, Mary Nash, Kenny Baker, Luis Alberni and others. The story of young love all mixed up in politics. Eric Linden and Cecelia Parker are the romantic pair, with Mickey Rooney and Charley Grapewin playing prominent roles.

A Silly Symphony in color, "Woodland Cafe," rounds out the program.

FREE THREE IN GIRL'S DEATH

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Sheriff Ed Champeaux has released from Jail Mrs. Hildreth Shrum, mother, and Bernice, 17-year-old sister of Dorothy Shrum, whose nude body was found in her bedroom last week.

Herman Cash, former sweetheart of Dorothy, also was released from custody by the Sheriff after extensive questioning. Still held as material witnesses are Percy Masson, who employed Mrs. Shrum as housekeeper, and W. G. Benton, employed by Masson as a well digger.

District Attorney Tob Scott said a report from the autopsy surgeon showed no evidence the girl was assaulted or had been an expectant mother. Bruises on her throat at first led investigators to believe she had been garroted by a red leather belt from one of her dresses. Mrs. Shrum told officers she believed her daughter died from complications after an appendicitis operation performed six weeks ago.

A coroner's jury decide yesterday that Dorothy came to her death "by strangulation at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

The princess, it was alleged, had tossed a couple of empty wine bottles out of the window of her third-story apartment in midtown Manhattan, and hit a passing pedestrian.

The pedestrian, Alfred Azzara, a Brooklyn dental clerk, could not identify her as the person who did the bottle-throwing, however, and the princess then made her dramatic courtroom exit.

Princess Thumbs Nose At Court As Case Is Dropped

NEW YORK (AP)—With an airy flip of thumb to nose, Princess Olga Troubetskoy, one-time figure in the court of the late Czar of all the Russias, made her exit from New York felony court yesterday.

The gesture was the Princess Olga's way of celebrating her dismissal by Magistrate Michael A. Ford on a charge of felonious assault.

The princess, it was alleged, had tossed a couple of empty wine bottles out of the window of her third-story apartment in midtown Manhattan, and hit a passing pedestrian.

The pedestrian, Alfred Azzara, a Brooklyn dental clerk, could not identify her as the person who did the bottle-throwing, however, and the princess then made her dramatic courtroom exit.

BEERY FILM TO END TONIGHT

Wallace Beery plays the title role in "Good Old Soak," ironic photoplay of America's prohibition days, which closes an engagement at the West Coast theater tonight with a second picture, "Thirteenth Chair," a gripping murder mystery.

In "Good Old Soak" Beery plays the most appealing role of his long career as the father of a small-town family who quits his business to devote his full time to the speakeasies. How he restores the family fortune which he is accused of doing away with, furnishes plenty of humorous action. The cast includes Una Merkel, Eric Linden, Judith Barrett, Betty Furness and Ted Healy.

"Thirteenth Chair" is a mystery which concerns solution of a baffling murder committed while a group of people are gathered around a seance table in the dark. The cast includes Dame May Whitty, Madge Evans and Thomas Beck.

Tomorrow the West Coast will show a double feature program with "Fifty Roads to Town" and "Michael O'Halloran." The first picture features Don Ameche, Ann Southern and Slim Summerville in what is said to be one of the finest pictures of the year. The second film is based on the famous Gene Stratton-Porter novel, and features Jackie Moran, Charlene Wyatt, Wynne Gibson, and Warren Hull.

NEW TWIN BILL AT BROADWAY

Love's most exciting game is played by Loretta Young and Tyrone Power while Adolphe Menjou throws aside the rules in "Cafe Metropole," which opens today at the Broadway theater with a second feature, "Let Them Live."

Continental romance of the gayest brand predominates in "Cafe Metropole," set in the bright spots of Paris. The three stars are joined in the excitement and fun by Gregory Ratoff, Charles Wininger and Helen Westley Power, playing the role of a college student, gets in a financial jam and is forced by the suave Menjou to impersonate a Russian prince. He gets into plenty of trouble and excitement before the story reaches a climax.

"Let Them Live" is a thrilling story of behind-the-scenes politics as played in a city. John Howard plays the leading role of a young doctor who fights a corrupt political ring in order to clean up tenement health conditions. Other cast include Nan Grey and Judith Barrett.

Selected short subjects include a Pop Eye cartoon, "The Foxy Pup," and World News events.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treasury wants to burn up $4,342,415,000 of gold clause federal reserve notes.

At the treasury's request, a joint resolution authorizing it to destroy the notes and replace them with a new series has been introduced in congress.

July 10 'Beckons' Santa Ana Boys to Camp Osceola

July 10 jumped off the calendar today and began shouting about Camp Osceola.

Santa Ana boys picked up their ears and listened. On that day the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. contingent will start for the "Y" camp in the San Bernardino mountains.

They will find Camp Osceola more beautiful and more conveniently arranged than ever," said Ralph Smedley, "Y" secretary.

"This is partly because of last winter's snow. Some rebuilding has been made necessary by the overloading of the snowfall and by the washing out by high waters, but the 'work camp' which goes in on June 4 will have all these things attended to in ample time for the formal opening of camp on June 14.

"Conrad Jongewaard of Anaheim is camp manager for this season, and Mrs. Jennie Kenline, famous camp chef, will have charge of the food again, this being her fourteenth season of feeding the boys.

"The Santa Ana camp will have as program director Herbert Thomas, local boys' work secretary, who will be assisted by a corps of strong cabin leaders.

"In order to stimulate early registration for the camp, Thomas is offering a 'Y' camp emblem to each of the first 50 boys who sign up. These emblems are attractive in color and design and are worn by the boys on sweaters and jerseys. They are already beginning to be seen about the schools, as boys enroll for camp.

"The camp 'booster rally' on June 10 is expected to find the first 50 boys signed up for camp. That will leave only a limited number of places to fill by July 10, when the local contingent will go to Osceola. Last year a number who wished to go were unable to get places because the capacity was filled, and Secretary Thomas is warning those who want to be sure of going this year not to delay their enrollment."

The following boys are already on the list: Jefferson Davis, Terry Ragan, Bruce Ragan, Wayne Tibbs, Wesley Hunter, Bobby Lee Cole, Ernest Warner, Mendel Cole, Kenneth Anderson, Billy West, George Hyde, Howard Rapp, Allen Hollingsworth, Robert Scott, John Henderson, Arthur Beard, Charles 3-man and Victor Lauderbach.

Full information about the camp may be secured by calling the Y. M. C. A. office, phone 95.

On motion of Supervisor Harry D. Riley, the board granted a special permit to W. D. Cannon to construct a business building in Buena Park.

Other permits granted went to W. T. Johnson and J. E. Gillespie, both of whom will construct dwellings in South Laguna Beach.

The county planning commission had approved the latter two permits. The other was for a building in the city limits of Buena Park.

Build with LUMBER..

A Lifetime of security at amazingly little cost

Thousands of American families are today realizing their hopes for better homes. There is nothing like lumber for solid comfort in house building. It is durable, easy to handle and inexpensive.

When the Union Pacific was under construction seventy years ago, lumber was scarce in mid-continental America. Methods of logging were tedious and wasteful. Transportation was difficult.

Today, modern methods of logging and lumber manufacture, coupled with fast, dependable railroad transportation, make the choicest lumber available in all markets of America at amazingly low prices. In a frame house of average size the cost of the lumber is only about 15% of the total construction expense—and this includes freight charges to average destinations.

Union Pacific has played a leading part in development of the lumber industry. Steadily through the years, it has bettered its schedules, improved its equipment, to facilitate fast, low cost, dependable delivery of this important commodity. It has recently added 4,500 specially designed cars to its lumber fleet. Progressive steps in pace with a progressive industry.

For better homes—at minimum cost—consult your local lumber dealer.

Board Plans Ordinance to Control Slaughterhouses

SPECIAL MEET CALLED FOR THURSDAY

Proposed Law Results
From Protests in Third District

Control of location of slaughterhouses in the county is sought by the board of supervisors in a new emergency ordinance which will be considered at a special board session Thursday afternoon.

Prepared by District Attorney W. F. Menton, the ordinance was presented at the regular session of the supervisors yesterday afternoon.

Action on the ordinance was delayed at the request of Supervisor John Mitchell, who said he wanted to confer with residents of his district before the new law is enacted.

Result of Protests

The ordinance resulted from a strong protest registered by residents of the district west of Santa Ana near West First and Sullivan streets, where Joe Betschard plans to build a slaughterhouse and retail meat market. He plans to move from his present quarters at Talbert.

A delegation also appeared before the supervisors yesterday, urging the supervisors to refuse to allow the slaughterhouse to locate in the district planned. They said the smells would be bad, public health menaced and property values damaged. Last week Betschard denied that his establishment would injure anything or anybody.

The supervisors seemed agreed that there is a need for slaughterhouses, but their location should be controlled.

Provides for Permits

The ordinance drawn up provides for the issuance of permits by the board of supervisors, and makes it unlawful to locate a slaughterhouse within 1000 feet of any state highway or county road upon section lines. By denying applications, however, the board would be able to control their location.

The ordinance says that slaughterhouses and similar enterprises have been held by courts to be nuisances when operated in settled communities. It also says there appears to be an increase in the number of such plants seeking location in Orange county, and that this may become injurious to the health and well-being of the county.

There is an emergency clause in the ordinance which would make it become effective when adopted. It also will provide that if the ordinance is not removed from the place.

The law provides a fine of $500, six months imprisonment, or both as maximum penalties for violation.

Poultry Disease To Be Outlined

The story of coccidiosis, its symptoms, loss to the poultry industry, and recommendations for control will be discussed by Dr. E. M. Dickinson of the University of California veterinary division at a meeting for Orange county poultrymen, being arranged by the agricultural extension service, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

This disease is one of the worst that poultrymen have to contend with and is almost always present in flocks to some degree. Dr. Dickinson has spent 10 years in studying the disease in Oregon and is very well qualified to present the subject to local poultrymen. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. C. U. S. SEEKING REFUND ON HARBOR

Overpaid County $4553
On Dredging Job at
Newport Harbor

Give back part of that money we sent you!

Such was the message sent the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon by Uncle Sam through his agent, Charles J. Maxey, chief accountant of the federal emergency administration of public works.

Paid Too Much

The situation seemed to be that when Uncle Sam refunded the county $121,000 some time ago as the county's balance of unexpended monies on the Newport harbor dredging project, too much by $4553.40 was paid Orange County. So the government wants the $4553.40 back in order to balance its books and mark "finis" to the harbor dredging project.

Members of the board of supervisors indicated that the county probably will give the money back to the government, but first the board will check with Major Theo Wynan, Jr., army engineer at Los Angeles, with whom details of the project were handled in the past.

Audited June 30, 1936

The letter from Maxey said the Newport harbor improvement was finished May 29, 1936, and finance audit completed June 30, 1936.

The audit showed a total project cost of $1,646,269.69, of which sum $1,536,310.67 represented cost of labor and material, participated in or on equal basis by the harbor district and the U. S. army engineers. The letter said an overpayment of $4553.40 was made to Orange county.

Last of 'Bryan Dynasty' Turns to the Farm

LIQUIDATOR OF 4 BANKS NAMED

A new state banking official will have charge of liquidation of four state banks in Orange county which closed their doors during the depression.

Notices were filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs yesterday afternoon by Friend W. Richardson, state superintendent of banks, of the appointment of Haly J. Thomas as a special deputy superintendent in charge of liquidation and distribution of assets of the four banks.

The four banks referred to are the First State Bank of San Juan Capistrano, the First State Bank of Huntington Beach, the California State Bank of Seal Beach and Bank of Balboa.

Charley Steps Out of Politics to Pursue His Three Hobbies

By JOE MORTON, Jr.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—"Six scattered hours of sleep each night are enough for anybody."

That is the success formula of 70-year-old Charley Bryan, whose recent retirement from the Lincoln mayoralty rings down the curtain on the "Bryan dynasty" in politics after nearly half a century.

Charley's brother, the late William Jennings Bryan, began the "dynasty" in the 1890's as a congressman and later ran three times for President. Charley has been Nebraska's governor three times, vice presidential and senatorial candidate, and mayor of Lincoln twice.

His niece, Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, preceded him into retirement by a few months.

Back to the Farm

Strong and vigorous, he stands slightly more than six feet, weighs more than 200 pounds, and looks much like the "Great Commoner." Charley's sleep formula is no joke. He has been getting his rest catch-as-catch-can for years. He sat up far into the night recently to supervise the foaling of colts on the farms where he breeds fine draft horses.

He is retiring, he says, to put the farms—three quarter-sections—on a paying basis. "I'm just like a dog," he explains. "A dog needs fleas to keep him from worrying about being a dog. These horses are my fleas."

Boxing Fan

Farming, horse racing and boxing have been life-time hobbies. During his early life in Illinois he fought a number of amateur bouts. As governor, he attended every contest of importance.

Charley likes to be called "Charley," "I feel just like a boy," he says.

His "youth" has been the essence of everything he has undertaken.

When Lincoln put into effect an ordinance requiring bars to sell food to qualify for a license, Mayor Charley made the rounds of every bar.

"If they didn't have soup to sell I closed them up," he says. He's a strict prohibitionist.

Bull To Harness

Fifty years ago his energetic treatment of a "bull marketing" problem created a recent campaign.

"I owned a registered Jersey bull," he recounts, "and wanted to sell him but the bull was so vicious I was having trouble finding a buyer."

A banker in a nearby town was interested but kept putting me off until one day I offered to drive the bull down to his office.

"He didn't think this could be done so he told me to go ahead. Well, I hitched that bull up to a buggy and led him around a field until he worked as well in harness as a horse. Then I drove right up to the bank and unhitched. That banker was dumbfounded. He just wrote out the check without saying a word."

Ain't Got Swing

There are 999 similar stories about Charley, who came to Nebraska after the bull incident and settled down near "Charley" Daves.

Now that he's retired, Charley Bryan plans to "catch up" on his reading. Kipling is his favorite author and "If" his favorite poem. He and Mrs. Bryan frequently attend the movies but neither has a favorite star.

About swing music, Bryan is a little more definite, remembering this definition from a Nebraska student newspaper:

"Swing music is just one of those things. You've either got it or you ain't got it."

"That definition is the only thing that makes me think I'm getting old," Charley confides.

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, declares pedestrians must obey all traffic rules.

COUNTY CARS WILL HAVE INSIGNIA

Vehicles Exempted in Three Enforcement
Departments

County insignia will go on the sides of all county cars. That is, all county cars except those in the sheriff's office, district attorney's office and probation department.

A motion put by Supervisor Harry D. Riley to this effect was adopted by the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon after it had been seconded by Supervisor John Mitchell.

Check Private Use

The supervisors believe that by putting the big, orange-colored insignia which definitely stamp the cars as county property on the automobiles and trucks belonging to the county, private use of such vehicles by county employees will be minimized.

The matter came to a head a week ago when the supervisors discussed the possibility of stamping the signs on the sides of all county cars, and exempting none. Several members of the board at that time favored this plan.

Exemption Asked

But yesterday it was decided that the three departments which are mainly concerned with police work and law enforcement should not have the insignia.

Department heads, including the health, agricultural and district attorney, had asked for exemption of certain cars last week on the grounds that law enforcement and standardization work would be hindered.

Damage Action Is Compromised

Compromise of a damage action for $1550 was revealed in notice of approval filed in the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon by Superior Judge from Jack Vay Rider, cowboy artist and author, in an uncontested suit, charging non-support.

The damage action grew out of an automobile accident on March 16 at Orange avenue and Cubber streets, Santa Ana, when the girl was injured.

AUTHOR DIVORCED

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Van der Vay was granted a divorce yesterday from Jack Vay Rider, cowboy artist and author, in an uncontested suit, charging non-support.

Both Pan Hellenic and Wrycende Maegdenu Organizations Elect Officers

Pan Hellenic Names Mrs. J. A. Hill

Pan Hellenic members last night closed their official year when they were entertained in the lovely J. Frank Burke home on Panorama Heights by Mrs. Loyal King, Miss Ruth Frothingham, and Mrs. George Petersmeier. They served a dessert course at tables centered with spring flowers.

A report of the nominating committee and subsequent election resulted in the naming of Mrs. J. A. Hill to the presidency, Miss Katherine Smith to the vice-presidency, Mrs. Clarence Holmes to the secretaryship, and Mrs. R. C. Harris, the treasurer. Miss Helen Wiesemann will serve as membership chairman, and Mrs. William Stauffer as historian. Their names were presented by Mrs. Harry Le Bard, chairman.

At the request of Mrs. Warren Fletcher, retiring president, all sororities responded to roll call with songs or poems, with Mrs. Gene Douglas acting as mistress of ceremonies.

A Pan Hellenic tea for present, former, and prospective members will be given by the organization June 12 at the Douglas home at Laguna Beach, it was announced.

Special guests were Mrs. Lee Woods, Mrs. Dena Rudolph, and Mrs. Alice Swanke of Orange. At the conclusion of the business session, auction and contract were enjoyed, with eight tables in play. Miss Helen Kennedy received a pretty pottery pitcher for high score at auction, and Mrs. Carrie B. Wells and Mrs. George Spielman were awarded pottery teapots for high scores at contract.

SAN DIEGO GIRL FETED HERE

Miss Beulah Engle of San Diego, who plans to be married June 12, was guest of honor at a party given at the Robert Engle home this week by her sister, Miss Roberta Engle, and by Mrs. A. H. Ford of Los Angeles.

Fragrant carnations decorated the rooms in which games were played during the afternoon. At the refreshment hour an assortment of miscellaneous gifts were showered upon Miss Engle.

Guests of the two hostesses were Mrs. Robert Engle, Mrs. Jess Plummer, Mrs. Grace Deakins, Miss Virginia Deakins, Mrs. Willard White, Mrs. Averill Lee, Mrs. Rosalie Dunn, Miss Frances Dunn, Mrs. Edly Rime, Miss Fern Rime, Mrs. Horace Moore, Miss Mildred Moore, and Miss Marjelle Galbreath.

SOCIAL SECTION MEETS AT BALBOA HOME

Nine tables were in play yesterday afternoon when the social section of the Santa Ana Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins of Balboa. A dessert course was served at tables centered with sweet peas.

Assisting Mrs. Watkins were Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, Mrs. E. O. Ahern, Mrs. Minnie Cole, and Mrs. Mary Crowl. Prizes at games went to Mrs. James Clark, Mrs. G. V. Linebender, and Mrs. Leland Eubank, for scores at anagrams, contract, and auction respectively.

GARDEN GROUP TOMORROW

Members of the Woman's club Garden section will elect new officers and have a plant exchange when they meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. R. A. McMahon at 2 p. m.

There will be a talk on pest control and on what this month's work in the garden should be.

GLAMOUR OF WISPY CHIFFON

Nothing is more suitable for the bride to take along on her wedding trip than the always-packable silk chiffon dinner frock. Here's a redingote dress of green over gold that is very flattering—with its softly draped neckline and graceful, full skirt.

CIRCUS PARTY GIVEN FOR RUSHEES

A gay circus party was enjoyed this week by Delta Chi Sigma members and rushees when they assembled at the home of Mrs. Richard Bradley on Cypress avenue.

Her attractive home was decorated with circus posters and a parade of animals, and the game of the evening was "The Big Top Bridge." Prizes were won by Miss Lorine Shippe, Miss Nadine Johnson, Miss Vivian White, and Miss Martha Sharpley.

Individual sacks of fresh roasted peanuts were served during the evening, and later refreshments of hot dogs, pink lemonade, animal crackers, and popcorn balls were passed out from a hot dog stand.

Assisting Mrs. Bradley at the enjoyable affair were Miss Carol Smith, Miss Lois Wagner, Mrs. Corwin Frazee, and Mrs. Lloyd Manderscheid.

Guests of the sorority were Miss Jeannette Fish, Miss Ida Asplin, Miss Eileen McCollum, Miss Betty Smith, Miss Nadine Johnson, and Mrs. Simon Toelle.

Members present were the Misses Carol Smith, Lois Wagner, Alice Martin, Lorine Shippe, Martha Sharpley, Charlene Kyte, Helen Manderscheid, Frances Roberts, Margaret Westover, Mary Alice White, Marie McGinnis, Vivian White, and the Mesdames Corwin Frazee, Lloyd Manderscheid, and Richard Bradley.

The Delta Chi Sigmas will have a formal tea June 6 at the home of Mrs. Virgil Harmon, 518 South Indiana street, Anaheim.

SALMON OMELET

Salmon omelet makes a slightly different, but very satisfying, luncheon or supper dish. Add half a cup of cooked salmon to the regular omelet recipe. Or make the omelet the regular way and surround it with a hot creamed salmon sauce. Both the colors and flavors blend well.

BETHEL WORK IS EXEMPLIFIED AT CHAPTER

Santa Ana chapter members of the Order of Eastern Star held an interesting meeting this week when Job's Daughters exemplified their work for their approval. With Charlotte McCausland presiding, Betty Gowdy and Courtney Chandler, worthy matron and worthy patron of the chapter, and Lorraine Wheeler, past honored queen of the Bethel, were escorted.

The Bethel also initiated a class composed of the Misses Eva McAllen, Winola Barrett, Nancy Morris, Gertrude Knox, Maxine Campbell, Frances Hartman, Helen Waldron, and Madelyn McDonald. Mrs. William Dean and Frank Sawyer were introduced as guardians of the Bethel.

At a business session of the chapter, it was announced that the request of Sue Henry, associate matron, the chapter's annual party night had been postponed from June 14 to June 28, and that consequently Santa Ana chapter would initiate June 14. At that time Mrs. F. P. Nickey, Jr., will receive her degree.

Refreshments were served to the group in the dining-room. Mrs. Genevieve Holmes was in charge of decorations, and Mrs. Hazel Irwin, refreshments.

SANTA ANANS GO TO MONROVIA

Mrs. Marie Stanton Eyerly and her daughter in law, Mrs. Leonard Eyerly, drove to Monrovia recently to attend a linen shower given for the former's niece, Miss Thomasina Stevens of Azusa.

The affair was given by two aunts, Mrs. T. M. Canon and Mrs. Alice Gilmer at the Canon home. A dozen guests spent the evening, making blocks for a bedspread for Miss Stevens, who will marry Frederick Shearer of Glendora on June 11th.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE FRIDAY

With another successful Sunday night supper behind them, Santa Ana Country club members are anticipating a delightful dance for adults this Friday night.

More than 30 family members enjoyed the buffet course served in the solarium this Sunday, with cards and dancing later. Mr. and Mrs. Brinkerhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May acted as hosts and hostesses, with directors and their wives assisting.

FULLERTON FOLK SKATE HERE

More than 100 members of the Fullerton Epworth league enjoyed a skating party in Santa Ana this week, bringing with them punch and wafers.

Mrs. H. A. Delaney, D. Burbot, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ellis acted as chaperons and advisors. Gerald Ellis and Raymond Stone, president and vice president, were in charge of the affair.

President Is Hostess To Board

Mrs. Crawford Nalle, retiring president of Junior Ebell club, last night was hostess to her executive board of the year when she supplemented the monthly board meeting by serving a dainty dessert course at the home of her mother, Mrs. Alex Brownridge, on North Main street.

Guests found lovely flowers in foyer and living-room, and a long table in the dining-room was decorated with tall white tapers and a bowl of delicate spring flowers, anemone, love in the mist, columbine and ferns.

Future legislation, reports and discussion of the final general meeting of the year, which will be in the form of an inaugural luncheon June 5, occupied the evening.

Mrs. Albert Harvey, incoming president, was a special guest. Unable to attend were Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. George Bradley, Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Emrys D. White, the latter senior Ebell advisor.

PEANUTS, POP TO BE SOLD BY SOCIETY FOLK

Prospect of Santa Ana's 400 peddling hot-dogs and pop is an added inducement to attend the fashionable horse show that will be given in the Municipal Bowl June 5 by the Assistance League.

A concessions committee has been appointed to work under the leadership of Mrs. A. L. Mellen. The sale of peanuts, pop, and hot-dogs will be conducted by her committee, which is composed of Mrs. E. F. Elstrom, Mrs. Loyal King, Mrs. John McKittrick, Mrs. Sara J. Haddon, Mrs. R. C. Holmes, and Mrs. Mortimer Plum.

POMONAN GUEST OF CIRCLE

The May meeting of the Mary-Maria circle of the Spurgeon Memorial church was held in the home of Miss Margaret and Miss Helen Fines. After a business session conducted by Miss Margaret Fines, devotionals were read by Miss Mildred Goodwin.

Principal speaker of the evening was Mrs. Mary Lou Tribble of Pomona, superintendent of the Los Angeles district of young people's circles of the Southern Methodist church. A discussion followed her talk.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. C. M. Aker, Mrs. Tribble, and the Misses Margaret and Helen Fines. After a business session, the chapter's annual party night had been postponed from June 14 to June 28, and that consequently Santa Ana chapter would initiate June 14. At that time Mrs. F. P. Nickey, Jr., will receive her degree.

Refreshments were served to the group in the dining-room. Mrs. Genevieve Holmes was in charge of decorations, and Mrs. Hazel Irwin, refreshments.

Of Interest To Women

By MYRTLE GAYLORD
American Wire Correspondent
Men buy most of the homes purchased in this country.

But 85 per cent of the time it's the wife who decides which home to buy.

And what influences a woman in her final decision?

Not good construction and not, as many suppose, a fine outside appearance and setting.

A perfect kitchen, well designed and equipped with labor-saving devices and built-in cabinets will sell a woman a house more quickly than any other single feature, says a nationally known realtor.

If a woman is sold on a kitchen she's practically sold on a house. And after all, why not?

"The woman of the house spends a large part of every day in the kitchen and it should be as efficient a workshop as her husband's office," observes the realtor.

The second most important feature in a house, to the average feminine mind, is an attractive bathroom.

Probably because she spends large coils of time in that room cleaning up after friend husband gets through the morning shower and shave.

"The sophisticated have no notion how powerful amongst poor and ignorant, and ordinary people, Edward of England's romantic prestige has already become," says Geoffrey Dennis in Coronation Commentary. "Women hold up their heads. After all then, the girlhood dreams and the beautiful stories were true . . . The chief of the kings of the earth cast away his crown for the sake of the woman he loves. Who might have been me."

Especially true of women around 40.

Edith Cloyes Honored By District

Appointment of Mrs. John M. Cloyes (Edith Cloyes) of Santa Ana to the district chairmanship of literature of Federated Women's clubs was announced today by Mrs. David A. Ebbel of San Diego, southern district president.

Mrs. Cloyes, who has been extremely active in literary circles for many years, and is a prominent member of the Santa Ana Ebell club, has been in great demand this past season for fiction and poem reviews. She has appeared before clubs all over southern California, and her appointment means that among numerous duties she will give programs to clubs of five southern counties.

She will attend a meeting of district chairmen to be held June 23 and 24 at Del Mar.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS HAVE BANQUET

Nearly 150 women and girls were present at the annual Mothers' and Daughters' banquet held recently in the United Brethren church and sponsored by the Women's Missionary society, the Otterbein Guild and World's Friendship circle members. The last two societies named are respectively the young women's and girls' missionary groups.

While guests were assembling they were entertained by the Sunday school orchestra under the leadership of Mrs. E. E. Johnson, also a violin solo by Miss Charlotte Stafford and a trumpet solo by Miss Irene Noble.

The tables were very attractive with decorations carrying out a garden motif. Fine cards and centerpiece were miniature trellises and arches intertwined with fern leaves and orchid sweet peas. These dainty decorations as well as the quantities of summer flowers in vases and baskets throughout the room were planned and arranged by a committee consisting of Mrs. Maud Hackett and Mrs. R. L. Hager, assisted by Misses Beryl Bates and Roberta Emerson, presidents of the respective societies.

While the dessert course was being served a girls' quartet, consisting of the Misses Helen Whitney, Marjorie Dennie and Marjorie Johnson and Mrs. Charlotte Palmer sang "To My Mother" and "Peppercorns" were led by Mrs. P. C. Cunnell.

During the program Mrs. Scott Wiles gave a beautiful tribute to the daughters and Miss Alice responded to the mothers. An interesting feature of the program was the reading of the names of the Mothers' and Daughters' Daughters, a fact which had been kept secret for nearly a year.

Mrs. Viola Gammell and Miss Alice Wiles were transferred to the Women's Missionary society from the Otterbein guild in a pretty ceremony. Mrs. Maud Hackett presented them with dainty corsages.

Miss Beryl Bates asked Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. Gammell and Mrs. J. H. Noble to come forward and she presented them each with a lovely corsage as gifts from the O. G. members. Mrs. Hackett is their newly elected patroness and Mrs. Noble and Mrs. Gammell had acted in that capacity in years past.

A playlet, "Mrs. Rich's Change of Heart" was presented under the leadership of Mrs. B. Mustard. Mrs. Naomi Warwick took the leading part and was assisted by other members of the missionary groups.

MANY TEAPOTS GARNERED ON WORLD TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. John Menne of East 17th street have returned from a four months' holiday spent touring the far east.

Their trip took them to China, Japan, Singapore, the Malay States, Ceylon and India, in which country they spent three weeks. From thence they went to Italy where they remained ten days, and sail aboard the Conte D'Sovia for New York City.

A novel feature of their trip was collecting teapots from each country they visited to add to their already interesting collection.

In the United States on their way home they visited in New York, Washington D. C., and Chicago.

GOVERNMENT PAYS ISABELLE STORY TO PUBLICIZE PEOPLE'S PLAY PLACES

By SIGRID ARNE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON—Isabelle Story, one of the few women who head divisions in the interior department, is the person who tells millions of Americans every year where to vacation in the national parks—and where to fry their eggs once they get there.

Last year 10,000,000 persons cavorted in the parks.

But not Miss Story. She hasn't had a vacation in years. She's never made a camp fire.

She gets into the parks, of course. She has seen them all. But she goes through them with her notebook open much like a busy grocer looking over his window in the morning.

She grew Luke Topsy. She came to government service in 1916, a blue-eyed youngster from Chicago with blonde, curly hair about her eyes. She was somebody's secretary. Then too many queries came in about the parks and somebody else said, "Let Miss Story answer them."

She did, and now she has a suite of six offices, and a staff of 14.

She can tell where to find a picnic ground near a Spanish mission in Arizona; where to register at an inexpensive hotel in the Rockies; and now to get smelts to fry in New England.

Gets Lowdown On Visits. These facts pour out from Miss Story's office in booklets, magazine articles, posters for railway stations, radio speeches.

To gather her information, Miss Story has visited all the parks, except Hawaii and Alaska. And she hopes to get to them, too. Some times the inspection trips are a bit rough and ready. She had to learn horseback riding, for instance, but did it pretty much the way she took her job. Just got on the horse and rode.

She has found, too, that Indian

Approaching marriage of their daughter Muriel was incentive for a delightful party given Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Philbrook, 1408 West Eighth street. Nuptials of Miss Philbrook and Armand Faccou were revealed to occur June 25 when guests were given tally cards and found that information printed thereon.

Bowls of lovely roses, snapdragons and sweet peas, arranged in pink and white color scheme, decorated the living room, and games were played until a betrothal dessert course was served. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Gerald Lowell, high, and Miss Maxine Struck, low.

Mrs. Christine Faccou, Armand and Hazel Faccou, arrived in time to participate in the refreshments. Other guests were Mrs. Gerald Lowell, Mrs. Ed Gaebe, Miss Lucille Stoker, Miss Emma Fowler, Miss Maxine Struck, Miss Mildred Beckman, Miss Le Fay Moore, Miss Dorothy Dixon, Miss Thelma Marks, Miss Frances Philbrook, Miss Charlotte Philbrook, and Miss Muriel Philbrook.

ENDEAVOR HEADS ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitney were hosts at a dinner party recently at which presidents and superintendents of the Christian Endeavor societies of the Santa Ana district were guests.

Those participating in the affair, which was accompanied by a discussion of C. E. problems were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bakewell, the Rev. E. E. Johnson, Miss Gladys Wilcox, Miss Ethel Torrens, Miss Alfrida Forsberg, Norman Haskill, and Clarence Rohrs.

RAGANS TO BE HONORED GUESTS

A round of pre-vacation festivities has occupied the week for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, who sail this Saturday aboard the Lurline for three weeks of pleasure in the Hawaiian Isles.

This evening they will be honored guests at an informal dinner party to be given in the Bonnie Brae home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hewitt.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Ragan, and the Hewitts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merker and Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer will be seated at the table and enjoy contract later.

Jean Ema Is Wrycende Head

Miss Jean Ema will be new president of Wrycende Maegdenu for the coming year, and will be formally installed at the banquet which that organization will give next Tuesday evening, it was decided at a dinner meeting held last night at the Y. W. C. A.

All will be included in the installation rites. The banquet, in charge of Miss Janice Yetmar, will also feature a talk by Miss Charlotte Niven, for 15 years general secretary of the World Y. W. C. A. Mothers will be special guests.

MERKERS HOSTS AT FAMILY BRIDGE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dieninger of Torrance were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Engle, 1402 West Seventh street, and to honor them Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merker of 2115 North Ross street planned a bridge party for members of the Lykkee family. Mrs. Edgar, Mrs. Dieninger, Mrs. Merker, and Mrs. Christine Faccou are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lykkee. Change Your Hairdress This Summer

By JACQUELINE HUNT

It's smart to be feminine and individualistic; so if you are not quite satisfied with your looks, take a glance at your hair. No matter how much you like your hair-do, change it just a little for spring.

If the curls over your brow have always been swept backward in soft rolls, loosen them into several curls or reverse them by combing the top section of your hair forward into one or two soft rolls, with one dropping forward on the forehead a little.

This style is good with nearly any type of face and is especially flattering to the girl with an extra high forehead. With it the side sections of hair are swept upward toward the crown in a swirl and rolled under ends, while the back is set in a sleek page-boy arrangement.

Uncover your ears if you have never worn your hair that way before, or cut off the bun you have always worn at the back of your neck. You cannot be too versatile in trying out new hair styles. You can change your type, your mood and your personality simply by changing the arrangement of your hair.

Of course you must consider the shape of your face. If it is very plump, try a side part, and if your hairline is good, brush the hair back and up into a doll-like halo around your face. Keep the back hair sleek over the crown of your head and in soft, patternless curls at your neckline.

Angina Cause And Cure Are Given

By CLAUDE CHRISMAN, M. D.

Mrs. S. M. J., of Texas, asks me to give the cause and cure for angina pectoris. That is a problem with several factors. From the patient's point of view, angina is a pain caused by a muscular spasm of the chest muscles in the region of the left breast. It is a peculiar pain. It may be of any degree, from a mild discomfort to an intense, smothering agony which causes the patient to gasp and remain perfectly quiet, fearing to move or breathe. With a typical moderate attack the pain suddenly strikes the upper part of the chest on the right and radiates toward the collarbone, up the side of the neck and to the left shoulder and down the left arm often to the finger tips. It usually lasts only a very short time and leaves the arm and fingers numb and tingling.

It occurs at all ages, is much more common in men than in women. It seldom occurs before the age of thirty or forty and increases in frequency as the age increases.

Angina is due to disease of the coronary arteries. These arteries supply arterial blood to the heart muscles. The vessels become hardened and inelastic, resulting in a depleted blood supply, and consequently a lack of sufficient oxygen to the heart tissues.

The patient is always certain he is going to die but usually he does not. Repeated attacks mean that the circulation is seriously impaired and death may occur.

Drugs to relax the muscles of the vessel walls are indicated. Persons who suffer frequent attacks should always carry tablets of nitroglycerine containing 1-100 of a grain. They can be taken at any time and as frequently as necessary. Rest is absolutely imperative after severe attacks. It restores the function of the heart muscle and relieves the pain.

Mary Stoddard Radios Going Morning, Noon and Night Are Sore Subject With Reader

By MARY STODDARD

"Why do so many people keep their radios on morning, noon and night?" queries a reader.

"Is it a habit, or do they really get enjoyment out of this constant noise?" she continues. She'd like honest opinions on this subject which she writes about in the following letter: Dear Miss Stoddard: It seems everyone brings the problems they cannot answer to your department. Here's mine:

What I cannot understand is the habit many people have of keeping the radio on from morning until night and sometimes very late at night.

We visit certain friends occasionally for a game of bridge. Before we have our wraps off, our host turns a knob and fiddles for a station, apologizing for the radio being off temporarily.

All thru the game, it goes. I find myself playing casino or Canfield, anything but bridge, because I can't think unless things are reasonably quiet. I can stand a general racket, but to concentrate on two things at once is beyond my powers. Now am I dumber than most folks? Won't some of you, or all of you answer that?

Recently a friend of mine told me, when we were discussing this same subject, that her boy cannot study unless the radio is going full speed ahead. She says she objects, but when she turns it off, he yells.

Doesn't this racket business go against every principle of concentration and absorption? And surely no one can deny that it is a racket, not only a racket, but a racket of ideas, of songs, of words and music.

I have known people, accustomed to traffic noises, who could not work in a quiet office, or others so accustomed to the clack of typewriters that they could not add a column right when they stopped. This is understandable. One might become accustomed to translating Sanskrit in a boiler factory.

But the radio is different—at least it seems so to me. It calls for two things. Emotion and application—even those these be almost subconscious, who is trying to bisect the angles of a parallelogram.

There must be times when the subconscious punctures the surface of consciousness, when the tones of a certain popular comedian hit the eardrums of the

Macaroni In Loaf Is Full Meal

By JUDITH WILSON

You can do a lot of things with macaroni to give it flavor besides sprinkling it with cheese, although, this is a delicious combination. The following recipe shows how this useful food can be varied to serve either as a substitute for potatoes or as the basis for a one-dish meal.

Macaroni Loaf

Mix 2 cups cooked macaroni, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 cup cheese, cut fine, 1½ cups cooked or canned tomatoes, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 4 tablespoons of melted butter, 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon celery salt, 1 teaspoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of white pepper. Pour into a loaf pan lined with greased waxed paper. Bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven. Unfold carefully on a warm platter, garnish with parsley and tomato wedges and serve.

To each half a cup of dressing add two tablespoonsful of any of the following: Ripe olives, green olives, pimiento - stuffed olives, chili sauce, catsup, horseradish, green peppers, pimientos, cheese, minced ham or other meat, parsley or chutney.

Handicraft Work Arouses Interest

The exhibit of handicraft now on display at Montgomery Ward & Co. of Santa Ana is receiving favorable attention and comment by the people of Orange county.

The objects of art have been selected from 22 communities and 70 recreation centers of Orange county which are under the supervision of Truscott Lindsey. The recreational project of the WPA has given to children and adults of Orange county an opportunity for a little diversion other than the general routine of their daily work.

Molding in clay, lace work, wood carving and burned wood, hammered copper and brass, together with other articles of art, give the exhibit a diversified atmosphere.

Lindsey hopes to carry out this plan of exhibiting the work in Anaheim and Fullerton immediately following the exhibit in Santa Ana.

Izaak Walton would have died a thousand deaths if he could have seen the Newport Harbor Service club yesterday.

He would have seen fish caught in every conceivable manner, from grasping 'em in both arms to hooking 'em through the tail. But if he had lived to be a thousand years old, he never could have had a better time!

It was the annual deep sea trip of the club. They caught fish so they could have lunch today. Members staggered home loaded with all they could carry. I'll bet the luncheon was a success!

The feature of yesterday's trip, however, wasn't catching fish. It was Jimmie Watkins and Gus Tampliss.

Jimmie and Gus have a long standing feud. It started two years ago on the annual trip and worked almost up to a climax last year, when Gus was sick and laid down on the deck and Jimmie covered him with barracuda, and then turned the hose on him!

Yesterday's battle of the century started when Gus sneaked up behind his "friend" and slipped a wiggling, squirming live bait down his neck. Jimmie's contortions can well be imagined.

No holds were barred after that. They wrestled through the live-bait tank and almost over the rail a dozen times. They threw halibut. They threw bass. They threw barracuda. They threw almost everything, and they weren't seasick either.

Jimmie had a good fishing hat, but it landed in the water, and so he filled it to the brim and turned it over Gus' head. The Balboa restaurant owner reciprocated with his own headgear, which soon was soaked.

The rest of us were almost as wet as the battlers, before the first round was over!

After that, the feud would break out at regular intervals, and went on throughout the day. Spectators called it a draw as evening approached and neither had mortally wounded the other.

They're both planning on next year already!

Bob Boyd, the prominent boat-seller, walked away with what's generally known as the "pot" on fishing boats. Every sucker aboard chips in a small amount to the holder of the largest fish at the end of the day.

Bob won with a very huge barracuda.

But members of the Service club now are investigating a report that he dropped three sinkers, his pocket-knife, the heel from one of his shoes and his pocket watch down the critter's throat before weighing-in time.

If those horrid reports are true, I want my two-bits back!

Topping off several minor tragedies of the day was the performance of Fire Chief Frank Crocker. Frank had his lunch in his hip-pocket, and popped it overboard while struggling with a fish!

Great gobs of tribute to Darrell King and his crew on the good ship "Owl" yesterday. Darrell entered into the spirit of the affair by catching a few fish, and his boys were obliging as could be. Hurrah for them!

Last night to the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting at Costa Mesa, where Dr. Huston engineered a safety program.

Personally, I have been getting tired of safety programs where people view with alarm and do nothing. But this one was different. They had a speaker from Los Angeles, Ralph Dorsey, who gave an entirely different slant on the traffic situation. I've heard lots of talks in the past year or so, and this was one of the best—he banged out facts and opinions and suggestions so fast my head was swimming. Everyone agreed the ideas were good, and went home determined to do something about traffic hazards.

One of the interesting sidelights growing out of the meeting was Howard Irwin's tale about observing the law.

On the Santa Ana river bridge at Olive there's a sign which warns motorists to travel five miles per hour, he said. So he decided to try out the speed limit business. He stopped his car, so as to get it into low gear, and crept across the span at the legal rate.

By the time he'd crossed the river, 10 cars were lined up behind him, all tooting horns. As soon as the road widened, the drivers all tore by, and each swore long and heartily at Fullerton's head Republican.

Now Howard's wondering about these traffic laws!

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING ALONG ORANGE COUNTY'S COASTLINE

BALBOA ISLAND SEA WALL CELEBRATION PLANNED

Committees Appointed for Ceremony June 19; Dr. Howard Seager Named Chairman for Parade And Dedication Event

BALBOA ISLAND.—Tentative plans for one of the most pretentious celebrations in the history of Balboa Island, marking completion of the $200,000 seawall, were made at a meeting in the Balboa Yacht club here Monday evening. Probable date for the event was set at June 19 when a large delegation met to discuss the event. Dr. Howard Seager was named general chairman for the celebration, to be assisted by J. D. Watkins. They were empowered to name additional committees to handle the event. Plans discussed call for a parade around the new wall and promenade, with a section devoted to fashions, beach wear and yachting costumes. Rivalry between different sections of the island is expected to furnish many interesting sidelights in the parade, members said. More concrete plans for the affair will be made at another meeting Friday evening in the yacht club. Dr. Seager said, when all new committee members will be asked for ideas on the subject and will aid in forming a complete program. Committee heads named Monday night were: Conrad Shook, program; J. M. Langford, finance; Douglas Bronston, entertainment; Doris M. McFarland, publicity; Kenneth Baum, prizes; Earl W. Stanley, decorations; A. J. Price, illumination; Antone Hershey, beach wear and yachting costumes; Sprague, music, and Judge Granger Hyer, judging.

There will be no motor-scooters dashing about Balboa and Newport Beach this summer. This was made certain yesterday when Superior Judge James L. Allen sustained a demurrer to a writ of mandate filed by W. Paul Butler, who sought to force the city of Newport Beach to permit him to rent out the motor-propelled scooters. On March 25 Butler had applied to the beach city council for a permit to operate the scooters. The council denied the application because it thought the scooter dangerous. Butler then filed a writ of mandate, seeking to force the city council to grant him the permit. The city filed a demurrer to the writ, which was sustained by Judge Allen without leave to amend. This action threw Butler's case out of court.

PUBLIC VOTE SOUGHT FOR EXHIBITS

LAGUNA BEACH.—A longstanding custom that calls for art experts to judge pictures in Laguna's art gallery has been upset with the announcement that visitors to the exhibit will be asked to name winners of awards for the June-July presentation. Prize-winning pictures will be named by visitors, who will vote on their preference for first, second and third places, art association officials have decided. Ballots will be counted during the first week of July.

Art critics were reported buzzing with conjecture as to the outcome of the novel method of judging. Heretofore, well-known artists have been named to judge each exhibit.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Traders suffering an early spell of vacation inertia today refused to lift a hand as shares drifted a little lower.

Throughout the session trading was thin, with the stock tickers halting frequently. Financial observers said the day's business news provided few pegs on which to hang aggressive transactions either way.

Typical of the Street's attitude was the divided advice of brokers. Some said stocks should be bought on dips, others recommended sales on rallies. Opinion was likewise divergent on the near-term effect of strike news. Closing prices:

EDITORIAL PAGE

This newspaper stands for a reunited people,
for independence in all things political,
and for honest journalism in its news and editorial columns.

Santa Ana Journal

Published daily except Sunday by John P. Scripps Newspapers at 117 E. Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Braden Finch, editor; E. F. Elstrom, business manager.
Subscription rates: By mail, $7.50 a year; by carrier, 65 cents a month; from newsboys and news stands, 3 cents a copy. Entered as second-class matter May 1, 1935, at the postoffice of Santa Ana, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Minimum Wages and Maximum Hours

WE SEE little reason to think that President Roosevelt's proposal for a 35 to 40-hour work week and a minimum wage for all workers wouldn't operate just as smoothly and happily for the United States as a whole as the minimum wage law for women has worked out during the past 24 years in California.

Nobody recently has kicked about the California minimum wage law, to the best of our knowledge.

Even employers who battled it a quarter of a century ago are for it now.

And records show that women workers in California packing plants, for instance, draw about twice as much pay as their sisters do for similar work in some of the unprotected states like Wisconsin. Yet the California plants in general make more profit than those which are exploiting the women!

If the law works this well in California, why shouldn't it be a success for the nation at large?

If it efficiently protects women from exploitation without wrecking industry, why shouldn't it do the same for men?

There's an unemployment angle, too.

It is obvious that the program would force employers in many cases to hire more workers, because it would cut the work hours of each person's week at the same time establishing a living wage.

This nation won't experience real prosperity again until the millions now out of work or on the dole get back into productive lines of industry and start adding to the real wealth of the country, instead of consuming it with little or no return.

Call it a "share the work" program, if you will, but those millions of jobless must get some kind of work. Both on their own account and on that of the nation's welfare. Why not in this way?

As for the enactment of the program and its constitutionality, there is little to worry about.

It may be opposed by Big Business and the American Federation of Labor perhaps, and by a portion of the anti-Roosevelt forces.

But congress at large probably will support it. The Democrats are on record through the NRA legislation. The Republicans endorsed the principle of minimum wages at their last national convention.

And now that even the supreme court itself has turned liberal like the great majority of the voters—don't be surprised if F.D.R.'s wage and hour program soon becomes the undisputed law of the land.

There is a "rising trend in all major classes of crime in metropolitan areas," reports the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Going back to normalcy perhaps.

Keep Derricks Off the Beaches

THE ENTIRE Southland should roll up its sleeves and line up squarely beside Huntington Beach in the fight against destruction and spoliation of the beauty of Orange county's bathing beaches by the erection of oil derricks on the sand and on "islands" offshore.

We can no longer depend on Governor Merriam or the majority of the legislators at Sacramento to help. They apparently have double-crossed us in the passing and the signing of the Olson bill with its pitiful sop of $2 per $1000 royalty to Huntington-Beach for the defacement of the seashore.

These politicians apparently can see only the immediate dollars to be obtained from letting the big oil firms ruin our coastline. In order to get a bigger royalty, which they should have, they are sacrificing the tidelands, which they should not do.

They do not see that tideland oil development will injure California's major tourist attraction—the bathing beaches—and in the end will cost the people many more dollars than are now to be obtained from the petroleum firms.

This betrayal of Orange county's coastline by the Sacramento interests might have been expected, however. Orange county recalls the time that Governor Merriam and some of his friends tried to dump a huge state prison colony in our laps.

The people united and defeated this stupid idea. They can unite now and beat the plan to ruin the beauty of the beaches for the sake of a few dollars in oil royalties.

If necessary, a move can be started to circulate initiative petitions calling for a vote of the people on whether the southern bathing beaches should be defaced by oil derricks or not.

Mussolini has been making speeches under the statue of Julius Caesar. Didn't somebody stick a knife in Julius under somewhat similar conditions?

Playgrounds, Parks, Schools

HERE are a few more "bits of vision" submitted to The Journal by its readers for a great and better Orange county and Santa Ana:

"Well-equipped and properly supervised playgrounds and better libraries in every community over 1000 population."—A. J. Hayman, Garden Grove.

"Relandscaping of our city park with sparkling fountains, heavy lush ferns, exotic fragrant sub-tropical plants and as the final touch an inspiring dedicative statue in gleaming marble."—Charles H. Adams, Tustin.

"A 30-minute non-stop boulevard to downtown Los Angeles, releasing Los Angeles families. A county college bordering on the inland bay at Newport—the sports center of America."—H. R. Billingsley, 805 North Flower street, Santa Ana.

From these ideas and others which forward-looking men and women vision, the future Orange county and Santa Ana will grow.

What is your suggestion for a bigger and finer community?

Modern ads certainly give the inside information on what the women are wearing.

MCINTYRE

There is always something substantial to me about a man who carries a neatly rolled umbrella. It's a sort of badge of steady going dependability. Among the umbrella carriers that pop into mind is Prof. William Lyon Phelps. I have never seen him without one.

In many ways he is our American "Mr. Chips," and to his intimates Billy Phelps. As professor emeritus of English literature at Yale he is one of the best known educators on this side of the Atlantic. Students and the alumni pay him singular devotion.

For years he has as a side diversion been a critic of the drama and the one reviewer who gets his slant on new productions by attending matinees only. He waits until the show has settled down—jelled as it were before giving it a critical once over.

Along the Rialto he is a familiar figure bobbing across town on his visits from New Haven to attend the theater. And hurrying back to catch his train for his elm-shaded retreat in the shadows of the great university. A kindly, gentle soul, the like of which the world needs greatly these days.

Almost every college town has its Professor Phelps. Out in Plattsburg, Mo., where I was born, we had Prof. Ellis and his son, Breckenridge, at our struggling little college. When the elder Ellis passed, his son taught for many years. Today he stands as a gallant monument to triumph over affliction. In early boyhood he was left paralyzed from the waist down by a malignant fever and confined forever after in a wheel chair. Coupled with this was his failing eyesight that only permitted light to his eyes several hours a day. Yet he has written more than 30 novels, many of which had wide sales and several of which were filmed in Hollywood. Every day he wheels to the postoffice and along the way chats with neighbors, comforts and cheers the sick, forlorn and distressed, stops in to talk to Horace Riley, the banker, and works as hard as anyone in town.

A bewildered citizen writes in to know what has become of the old fashioned girl who was ashamed to have her whatyoucallers hanging on the line on wash day? I don't know, but her prototype might be the one who sat next to me at Armand's the other day wearing shorts, a handkerchief, smoking a cigaret and telling an off-color honey.

The tall young Virginia writer, Joe Bryan III, was recently invited to a swank Long Island villa for the week-end. His host sent for him in an imported car with local and European license plates and a Jap chauffeur in plum-colored livery. Bryan tried to live up to the magnificence by affecting an easy nonchalance, one leg crossed over the other and gazing blandly on the passing scene. But some youngsters in an outrageous fly-over kept sailing up, peeing in, shouting with laughter and dropping back. Finally Bryan glanced down at his foot. There was a big hole in the sole of his shoe.

Mrs. Sam Goldwyn is reputedly Hollywood's greatest coffee drinker. She does not smoke or indulge alcoholic tipples, but wherever she goes must be constantly supplied with coffee or she is likely to make an early exit. And her coffee cannot be served in the usual manner. She insists the cup must be heated before filling. Mrs. Goldwyn is also a palmer. Some of her readings have been so uncanny as to astonish even the blasé crowds of the movie colony. Incidentally, Mrs. Goldwyn chuckles as much as anyone at some of her famous husband's blarney faux pas, receiving such elaboration recently in a Saturday Evening Post article. She, like his intimates, appreciates his artistic genius and if he wants to scramble the metaphors she thinks, in view of his lack of education, it is perfectly all right.

A lady I greatly admire recalled a mutual adolescent jigger jet to-day with hilarity. It was during a period when I was casting sheep's eyes. On her way to the postoffice as I trailed along a post card fell out of her hand and rushed up to me. I grabbed it and said: "You scrooped your pistol chard." Equally fussed she replied "O, you thank so much."

"I don't like draggin' the mutt around, but living right next to the business district the dog makes people realize that I'm not just an office girl out on an errand."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — If one senator will reach into a certain filing cabinet of the senate agriculture committee he will find a time bomb which will convulse the farm belt.

It is a public document which cost the taxpayers of the country $300,000, but for three months it has been carefully hidden.

The report deals with the farm incomes and was compiled by the federal trade commission under a senate resolution.

Some of the dynamite-loaded facts revealed in the report are: The first complete and detailed figures ever compiled on the sales, profits and fancy salaries of packing companies, millers and other big firms dealing in farm commodities.

The extraordinary profits made by dealers in farm produce—were among the most violent foes of the supreme court-invalidated AAA.

How grain and cotton speculators manipulated prices on commodity exchanges to the enrichment of themselves and the loss of tens of millions to growers and consumers. These operators also were vehement enemies of the AAA.

UNDERCOVER STRUGGLE The behind-the-scenes story of the trade commission's struggle to unearth these closely guarded secrets is as remarkable as the facts uncovered. In some cases investigators were met with open defiance and the commission had to go to the courts to compel the recalcitrants to open their books.

Virtually the entire economic staff of the commission worked on the report and experts who have seen it rate it as one of the most comprehensive and searching ever compiled by the agency.

Yet, when it was sent to the senate committee, it was ordered impounded and merely a brief summary was released, giving no inkling of the sensational contents.

Chairman of the agriculture committee is Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith. When the AAA was in operation, the veteran South Carolinian violently opposed amendments which would have empowered the agriculture department to examine the books of packers, millers and other farm produce processors and dealers.

NOTE—Senator Smith has five members of his family on the government payroll.

BIG LIQUOR BEGGARS The big liquor distillers seem to be having a hard time getting a man to fill the shoes of the late Forbes Morgan, (uncle of Mrs.

Roosevelt) as czar of the liquor industry.

Jim Farley already had turned the job down. Gen. Hugh Johnson wasn't keen about it, and the other day they offered it—with the accompanying honorarium of $75,000—to Charley Michelson, publicity brains of the Democratic national committee.

To which Michelson, without a moment's hesitation, replied: "What in hell would I do with $75,000?"

ECONOMIC ACORN

Not much has been said about it publicly, but state department officials, particularly Cordell Hull, are highly pleased at the victory of Norman Davis at the recently concluded international sugar conference.

This is the first economic conference in years regarding sugar or anything else, which has succeeded. Many previous attempts have been made to confer on sugar, all of which failed. This success, Hull believes, was due partly to the adroit diplomacy of his old Tennessee friend, Norman Davis, partly to the fact that the world is seeing the light of day regarding economic cooperation.

Hull is a man who believes that big trees from little acorns grow, and it won't be long now before he moves out into wider economic fields.

POWER DEAL

Henry Wallace's agricultural department elicits heart and soul in Roosevelt's policy of combatting the big power companies, but so bitter has become the feud between agriculture and the interior department that Henry is now playing into the hands of the power moguls.

This particular row is over the distribution of power from the newly completed Bonneville dam on the Columbia river. It was originally proposed that the interior department, whose PWA built the dam, should distribute the power.

Now the army engineers have stepped in and claimed the job. And the agriculture department, its eyes fixed upon the goal of keeping everything away from interior, has made a deal to boost the cause of the army. In return, the army is to boost the cause of Henry Wallace in taking over various conservation agencies from Teles.

ARMY GAME

What Wallace and his boys have forgotten, however, is that the army has been notorious in the past for its sub-rosa deals with the big power interests. Army engineers helped Hoover and Coolidge sabotage the Tennessee valley. Army engineers, in many cases, have resigned to take important jobs with the power companies.

And it was the army which was recommended under cover, by power companies, to take over the accounts of the federal power commission in order to okay the padded capitalization they were trying to put across on the public. If they get control of Bonneville dam, the army engineers will have the job of distributing its vast wealth of power to whomever they choose, at whatever terms they choose.

A POSSIBLE SOLUTION

(Seattle Star)
The resignation of Justice Van Devanter from the supreme court points out a possible solution to the question of the hour.

The retirement of the aged justice breaks down the solid bloc of four who have taken the conservative side on every issue, and allows the President an opportunity to appoint a younger, more liberal man.

In this way, the passage of time has come to the President's aid. The resignation has brought about a one-sixth victory for the President, and it is certain that the future will bring still further opportunity for Roosevelt to rejuvenate the court.

The real test of the merit of the original Roosevelt plan of adding more members to the bench is whether or not the nation would have approved had some conservative, such as Hoover or Coolidge, proposed the plan. Impartial thinkers will realize that the Roosevelt plan does not meet that test.

But now comes this resignation, giving the President a double opportunity, in allowing him to strengthen his position with the supreme court, and at the same time to gracefully make a compromise on his original plan.

Furthermore, it can save him from endangering his tremendous personal popularity, which would be jeopardized by the bitter rough-and-tumble fight which would occur should the court issue be brought out onto the floor of congress. With that personal popularity damaged, the President would be unable to carry out many of the great humanitarian reforms he seeks.

All in all, the nation which backs Roosevelt hopes that the resignation of this justice will point the way to a happy solution to the supreme court problem, bringing youth and liberality to the high tribunal without weakening its position under our constitution.

WASHINGTON. — Private dispatches to the state department agree that the negro revolutionary movement in Cuba is hourly growing more serious. The Washington government, it can be stated, is preparing for eventualities, but will wait another day or two before sending any more marines or troops to the island.

Prof. V. L. Hughes, head of the commercial high school, will be absent for the day in Los Angeles.

A Los Angeles Japanese reported yesterday morning to the police that he had been robbed the night before in a local Japanese poolroom, the sum of $150 having been taken from his coat pocket. Acting City Marshal Lacy investigated the case, but was unable to secure any definite in the way of evidence.

A gold medal for Glenn Martin, the Santa Ana aviator, is to be formally presented at the opera house next Wednesday evening, as a mark of the appreciation in which the local birdman is held by this community. The medal was ordered some time ago, or very shortly after Martin made his record-breaking flight from Balboa to Catalina and back.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

A sturdy specimen of American young manhood stood beside my desk and announced that he wanted to be a newspaperman.

I have a stock question for such a declaration—"Why?"

That's a hard question to answer orally. Even if a fellow has a real answer for it, still it's embarrassing to speak it right out. I always ask them to write their answer.

A lot of youngsters—and some not so young—haven't a sound reason for wanting or having wanted to be newspaper writers. "Interesting work" is the most common phrase—and it is obvious how insufficient that is.

The young man in question, just out of university, knew exactly why he wanted to be in a newspaper office. Here's part of what he wrote:

"...after learning theories, evaluating and sifting the conglomeration of ideas which one is exposed to, man unconsciously forms a philosophy of life which he desires to live.

"It is for that reason I want to work on a newspaper that recognizes the realities, perhaps sordid and unpleasant, that exist in a large city—a newspaper that is an optimist in that it has not become so cynical of the world that it closes its eyes and says it is useless to try to reform.

"The satisfaction and pleasure that one derives from working on a newspaper is that he is bringing truth to the members of the community. While I recognize that truth is perhaps the most difficult thing to find in this world, the newspaper certainly performs a service to society in sincerely printing what it thinks is the true picture of the case. In a world now flooded with propaganda, it is the duty of the paper to still maintain its equilibrium and print the truth."

A little crude and halting, it may strike you, but, oh, my friends, if you knew how those few simple words rang in the mind of an old-time reporter and editor!

There are newspapers and newspapers. Just a few of them have souls. Most of them, no matter how fair to look upon, are as soulless as that thing Frankenstein created. But I know 11 editors of 11 newspapers that have souls. My young friend is going to have himself a chance before very long.

The old movie Lothario is still moving. I have a card from him. It's signed Les, and I suppose the more cards I get from him the less and less I'll know about him. The one forwarded from Old Mexico has the government stamp of Oaxaca from the very fountain of antiquity. Les says he's staying at a hotel and can see the mounds on the Monte Alban ruins. And I'll bet if there is anything else to see, he will see it, because he is one of the most observing tourists who has crossed my path. He isn't satisfied with just literature. He wants to see the actual evidence. Les tells me that Mexico is a land of constant contrasts, friendliness and courtesy. Do you suspect that is a concealed fling at the gusto and verbosity of the average American tourist?

There will be fifty horses and I understand as many men in the Orange County Rodeo Club which participates today at the dedication of the San Francisco bridge. I didn't know it took that many horses to open a bridge. I tried it with a jack and got a laugh out of it, but the laugh was from my opponent. My partner didn't laugh.

Never kick a sleeping dog. Chet Dale didn't kick, but he backed his dog against another one, and a drowsy bulldog in the front seat hit the top of the tonneau to register his disapproval of the sudden awakening. The polite canine etiquette was for Chet to tip his hat and notify dog friend that within a few minutes there was going to be an explosion, and to get ready. If it had been a fish he would have gone through the entire list of social amenities.

If I had a horse I would be in San Francisco and the Orange County Rodeo Club, but in all probability I wouldn't be on a horse. What could be more ridiculous than to have a crowd shouting: "Skinny Skirvin rides again!" when it should be Jack Benny. I never was fond of following the horses, and the automobile took away what meager inclination I did have.

If I lived on East Seventeenth street where the trucks go by at 40 to 50 miles per hour, and the vibrations keep you busy straightening the pictures on the wall, I would either take the pictures down, or yell like an Indian to those in authority.

Sort of playful threat. Received an oil dividend check for $1.06. Some fifteen years ago a friend urged me to put several hundred dollars in one of those holes with a casing in it. If I live 999,000 years I'll get my money back. My friend is dead and no doubt better off. I don't think it was a good investment for him.

Buy "Buddy Poppies" next Saturday. Buy as many as you can afford. It will help the boys who make them and sustain the welfare work of the Legion auxiliary. It will be only a small investment in appreciation of a past sacrifice, but a pledge of loyalty to those who made that sacrifice. You do not need to limit your purchases of poppies. Buy an arm load if you can afford to.

May I suggest a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the unseasonal eccentricities in the weather. Something must be done about it, if we are to believe Mark Twain.

And I think it was "Mac" Robinson who remembered that he had read a story somewhere about a hubby coming home somewhat late and apologizing the next morning for bringing in a black eye. To which his wife replied: "You got the black eye after you got home."

Fem friend requests my assistance in parking the car at the curb. Imagine my astonishment when I gave the wrong advice the car was parked right. Now I'm wondering why she asked me in the first place?

"Blondy" Meister tells Bob Davis he has an item for me and when I see Meister he forgets what he intended to tell me. So I tell him.

A midwest correspondent sends me some literature about the "Burlington" steam-lined locomotive which is to enter into competition with the Diesel engine on the Chicago-Denver runs of 1034 miles. The railroad officials call the new train the "Aeolus," but it isn't any myth. It is a real modern "Gone With Winds," and of such power and fleetness it will sing a merry song as it clicks along the rails from Chicago to Denver. The mechanical engineers overcome the terrific pounding to locomotive and rail from heavy driving rods by using alloy steel roller bearings and precision fitting, which minimizes pounding and vibration. The new engine drives like a coach, according to my information, and rolls along at better than a 100 miles an hour. Comparative tests will be recorded, and we shall see what we shall see in the way of Diesel and steam competition.
